Tory mayoral candidate stands down

BRIDPORT Town Council is to review its rules after Councillor Roger Stoodley was forced to stand down as a mayoral candidate.

Councillor Geoff Ackerman will now stand alone as the town council's preferred candidate.

Councillor Ackerman narrowly beat Councillor Stoodley by one vote at an informal town council meeting in April but the nomination led to Lib Dem councillors being accused of "hogging" the ceremonial non-political role.

The issue came to a head at the Annual Town Meeting last week where several members of the public spoke out against both nominations.

by Tom Glover

Bridport resident Clive Jeanes said the issue was the "talk of the town," adding: "I am concerned with how we are choosing our next mayor. Geoff is a good friend of mine but I think he should step down."

"Other people in the town have given good service to the community and shown tremendous support for the town."

The nomination for Councillor Stoodley was also criticised.

Bridport resident Simon Williams commented: "Councillor Stoodley has not supported the views of Bridport on the district council and I think he would be unable to compassionately represent the town."

Leader of the town council, Councillor Dave Rickard, later accused Councillor Keith Day of bringing the town council into disrepute by using local media to politicise the nominations, defending the Lib Dem domination of the role.

He commented: "We have not gone to the press and said we are electing a Lib Dem mayor it is you who have gone to the press saying you want a Tory mayor."

Current mayor Councillor Martin Ray cut the debate short and proposed a meeting with councillors to discuss the issue before the official mayor-making event on May, 20th.

The councillors met on Monday night for an informal discussion, where Councillor Day withdrew his nomination for Councillor Stoodley.

Speaking after the meeting Councillor Day said: "We had a discussion and it became clear that the Lib Dems would not change their mind and Geoff would not stand down and they would marshal all their forces to vote against us if we didn't."

"In the interest of the town council and so as to not bring the office of mayor into disrepute I decided to withdraw my nomination for Roger (Stoodley) and that was the end of it."

Leader of the town council, Councillor Rickard added: "Geoff (Ackerman) was legally voted in at a town council meeting and Roger accepted that and stood down."

"We are probably going to look at the system. The idea is that the candidate is voted on before the mayor making because that is a ceremonial event, which has to be planned. Usually that works very well but this year we had two candidates who both staked a claim for mayor."

"The standing orders (rules) will be looked at, as well as this there have been one or two other issues over the past few months."

Councillor Roger Stoodley reluctantly stood down as a mayoral candidate, he said: "I was still open to challenge at the mayor making so I think that the town council just wanted to tidy up the procedure to make sure everything ran smoothly."

"Geoff (Ackerman) wasn't going to give in and he was determined to have a sixth term as mayor and since I had lost the vote previously I withdrew my nomination."

"I didn't want to make the town council look stupid and cause an unseemly spectacle at the mayor making."

"Geoff is always a good mayor, he is very committed to the town and does a good job every time.

"I have no problem with Geoff, just the lack of choice which has seen him be mayor or deputy mayor for the last seven years."

The town council's preferred mayoral candidate, Councillor Ackerman, commented: "We parted in good company and there was no animosity or bad feeling between any of us."

"It is an honour to become mayor of your native town and I am privileged to be asked. I am pleased we have come to a solution because one or the other had to stand down."

BEAMINSTER PCSO Alex Bishop, 26, has been on the beat in the town for three years.
Originally from Ilminster, Alex had always dreamt of joining the police force and seized the opportunity to fill the PCSO role in Beaminster.
Along with PC Tim Poole, Alex now covers the Broadwindsor, Beaminster and Halstock voting wards.
Having settled into his role Alex moved to Beaminster with his fiancée Jade in September last year. The couple are now expecting their first child in July.
Outside of work Alex is a keen sports fan, musician and martial artist, having trained at the South West Black Belt Academy in Ilminster for a number of years.

■ WHAT do you like most about Beaminster?
The community spirit. It's a lovely town. I also cover three voting wards which are some of the most beautiful areas in Dorset I think.

■ IS there anything you would like to change about the area?
I would like to see more job opportunities for younger people. A lot of them have to move out of the area to try and get better jobs and I think there are a lot of people who like where they live but are unable to stay here if they want to get a good job or progress their career.

■ WHAT made you join the police force?
I have always wanted to be in the police force. When I was 21 I applied to become a PC, I was rejected at that stage unfortunately but when I saw the advertisement for a PCSO I thought why not? It gives me a good insight into the job and it will be a good stepping stone.

■ WHERE do you see yourself in five years time?
I'm not really looking that far ahead because I've got a family on the way and I'd very much like to be family man. If that means that still doing this job is beneficial to the family then I'd like to still be here. I was always looking at going in and joining as a PC but I enjoy this job a lot and it is more suited to family life I think.

■ WHAT is the role of a PCSO for those who are still unclear?
There are a lot of people who still aren't very clear. It does differ from force to force but the main part of it is working with a safer neighbourhood team and finding community issues that need to be addressed and concerns that people have within their community and looking to resolve it. That can be through multi agency work, working with the different local authorities, with schools, with the youth centre. Working with different agencies to try and resolve those concerns. Community engagement is a big part of that and a big part of my role.

■ WHAT are the biggest problems that affect the Beaminster area?
Rural crimes such as thefts of heating oil, which at the moment is of big concern. It's a more valuable commodity now because of prices going up and the Beaminster and Marshwood Vale safer neighbourhood teams have released a scheme called "stop that oil" to try and get people aware of their security around their tanks. We are trying to make it harder for people trying to access the fuel.

■ WHAT are your favourite TV crime programmes?
I used to watch The Bill when I was younger but I don't often watch a lot of police dramas. I think a lot of the reality ones are quite a good insight into the job and they can be very interesting but I don't watch a lot of them.

■ WHAT would be your three-desert island discs?
That's very difficult, I have a wide musical taste. I think "One by One" by the Foo Fighters, the whole album is superb. "The Joshua Tree" by U2, again another superb album from beginning to end. "2001" by Dr Dre, I'm a big fan of Dr Dre, his earliest stuff with NWA is really good but also again all the songs on that album are very good as well.

■ WHICH three dream guests would you invite to a dinner party?
I'm an Arsenal fan and I think Arsene Wenger would be my first choice because he always seems like he's got something to say and I don't think he'd let the conversation die out. My fiancée Jade, it wouldn't be a dinner party without her. The last one would be Freddie Mercury. Queen are an amazing band and he was an amazing front man.

■ WHAT are your favourite events that go on in Beaminster?
I think that the biggest one is the Beaminster Festival, which is a fascinating festival celebrating art. The opening ceremony in the square is always enjoyable and has a very good atmosphere. Last year I went to the Eat Dorset food festival at Parnham House which I thought was very good and gave a good insight into locally produced food which I think is a very good topic in this area.

■ WHAT was the last book you read, film you watched and CD you listened to?
I'm currently reading a book at the moment called "The Outside Man" which is about an American joining the IRA, which is a good insight into the IRA trying to build a bigger profile against the British and using an American to do that. The last CD I listened to was "The Carter" by Lil Wayne, which is a very good album. The last film I watched was "Disturbia", a thriller with Shia Labeouf which was a very good film.

Chideock traffic protests on hold

TRAFFIC protests in Chideock have temporarily been put on hold while residents try to negotiate a solution to the problem.

by Tom Glover

Leader of the protestors Tony Fuller met with the Highways Agency yesterday to propose his latest plans to re-route HGV traffic along the A303.

On Friday morning Mr Fuller will be meeting with West Dorset MP Oliver Letwin.

A group of around 15 protestors have now carried out four separate demonstrations where they repeatedly use the newly installed pedestrian crossing.

The protest has received worldwide media attention with Mr Fuller conducting several TV and radio interviews, including appearances on Sky and Radio Two's Jeremy Vine show.

There has also been support for action from WDDC who recognised pollution problems in a report published in December 2008.

Acting Waste and Environmental Health Manager Tegwyn Jones said: "The problem of air quality on the A35 at Chideock is something we have been working on for some time as the levels of nitrogen dioxide are just above European Community guidelines."

"The worst points measured, on the pavement to the A35, are slightly over the level at which we must consider action to reduce pollution."

Despite the support the protest has not been welcomed by all Chideock residents. At the last protest on Friday afternoon North Chideock resident Sarah Mitchell parked her car alongside the protest bearing the message: "If you don't like lorries leave".

The George pub also got involved with the protest; adding a bit of humour by handing out free "jam" sandwiches to those caught in the traffic queues.

Mr Fuller hopes that HGV traffic can be re-routed along the A303 from Southampton to Plymouth, claiming this will add only eight minutes onto the drivers' journey. If no progress is made by the weekend then protests will start again next week and run twice weekly on Tuesdays and Fridays until demands are met.

Speaking at the last protest on Friday, Mr Fuller said: "We want to re-route the traffic and for people to have peace and quiet here."

"We want the Jurassic coast heritage site to be the most famous part of the country because it's the most beautiful and we don't want it polluted with lorries and container wagons 24 hours a day."

"We are suspending the protests for a short period whilst we visit the other avenues such as talks with Oliver Letwin, the Highways Agency and we are going to try and go round and try to resolve it and if we can't then we shall be back again."

Also speaking at the protest on Friday, North Chideock resident Sarah Mitchell, who has lived in the village for 14 years, said: "We are in an economic squeeze and there are businesses that rely on people coming through here."

"Life does actually revolve around business, yes people have the right to a decent way of life but if you don't want to live on a road then don't buy a house on one. I'm sorry, I know it sounds like I am speaking to the converted but it just seems eminently logical."

"I think this is the way it is and the easiest way would be to change the people."

Dorset County Council traffic manager Tim Westwood has expressed concern for other villagers caught up in the protest.

He said: "This action may well draw headlines but it may also provoke an unwelcome reaction from irate drivers, and local people legitimately using the crossing may well receive unwanted comments as a result.

"The A35 is an important route for all traffic in Dorset and until there is a reasonable alternative to bypass Chideock then there is little chance of reducing its use by heavy goods vehicles."

● A PACT (Partners and Communities Together) meeting involving Chideock residents and SNT (Safer Neighbourhood Team) officers, scheduled to take place at The Clockhouse on Thursday, has been cancelled.

New site added to waste station shortlist

A SEVENTH site has been added to the shortlist for a new waste transfer station in Bridport.

Dorset County Council has announced that Lilac Farm, which lies to the east of the Green Lane site and has direct access off the A35, will join six short-listed sites for more in-depth evaluation by Independent planning consultants, Nicholas Pearson Associates (NPA).

Lilac Farm was identified as a result of a general enquiry, during the Stage 1A report, into the availability and ownership of the Green Lane site.

The site has since been assessed, reviewed and scored using the same methodology developed for the Stage 1 and 1A reports and NPA has recommended Lilac Farm goes forward for further consideration.

The seven short-listed sites are now:

- Broomhills Farm
- Eype Junction (previously referred to as the Watton Farm site adjacent to the picnic area)
- Gore Cross North of Watford Lane
- Green Lane
- Lilac Farm
- Miles Cross 1
- Miles Cross 2

Two public exhibitions will now be held to give local people a chance to identify their preferred sites.

Dorset County Council's head of waste management Steve Burdis said: "Our search for a waste management centre to serve the people of Bridport is proving a long and difficult issue, with no simple answer. We strongly encourage residents to come and visit the exhibition to find out about the sites under consideration and share their views with us. This is the last chance for local people to have their input before the site assessment process is completed this summer."

Following the public consultation the seven sites will be evaluated on a number of factors including transport infrastructure and access, flood risk, drainage and water quality, landscape character and visual impact, and the extent to which the land supports the area's planning policies.

The results of the assessment will be reported to the county council's cabinet, who will then make the final decision about which site will go forward for a planning application. Public consultation will of course form part of any planning application.

The public exhibitions will be at the town hall on Friday, May 21st from 11am to 6pm and Saturday, May 22nd from 9:30am to 12:30pm.

More fascinating facts revealed

DORSET'S latest fascinating facts have been revealed for May 2010 as the countdown continues to the 2012 Olympic Games.

Team Dorset launched a special 1,000 Facts for 1,000 Days project with one fact being published every day right down to the start of the Games.

Among facts highlighted is one from Paul Docksey of Broadmayne who revealed that Weymouth Amateur Boxing Club came into being on May 17th, 1933.

Another fact from Amy Hill of Weymouth for May 19th reveals that comedian Ronnie Barker used to have a holiday cottage at Beaminster.

A fact provided by Jacqui Griffiths of Weymouth and earmarked for May 25th reveals that Weymouth and Portland has the sunniest climate in the United Kingdom.

Amy Corben-Hale of Weymouth has chipped in with a fact for May 27th which highlights that Portland sea lavender, one of the UK's rarest plants, is unique to the island.

Team Dorset stresses that theirs is an ongoing project and they are encouraging people to keep on submitting facts via the Team Dorset and Dorset For You websites.

Paper forms can be picked up from Weymouth and Portland council's offices on North Quay, Weymouth.

Facebook campaign to bring back 'Spirit' road signs

AN online Facebook campaign has been launched to restore 'The Spirit of Bridport' on signs welcoming visitors to the town.

Welcome signs to the town used to feature the image a flaxen-haired woman sitting on a throne, as featured in the Bridport Town Hall mural, who has been named by campaigners as 'Spirit'.

The image celebrates its 85th birthday this year and it has sparked a campaign to re-instate 'Spirit' onto the town's welcome signs.

The image was painted by Fra Newbery, a founder of the renowned Glasgow School of Art, in 1925 and was later adapted for the town road signs post-war in the 1950s or 60s by George Biles, whose murals adorn The Electric Palace foyer.

Margery Hookings who launched the campaign said: "This town deserves better - she's beautiful and we want her back."

"To me, the image is Bridport, but people only really see her now if they go into the town hall."

"She's beautiful and should still be the face that welcomes all visitors to this lively and quirky community. Why should we conform to blandness?"

Megan Cox posted a picture of one of the welcome signs from her 'A'-Level art project 17 years ago. She said: "I think it's a wonderful painting that celebrates Bridport's history and trade, and even the sitter was a local woman."

"Along with the other paintings in the town hall it was a gift to the people of Bridport from a talented and known artist in gratitude for the contribution the residents had made to his life, and it is a shame to lose this unique welcome to the town."

Margery added: "I was hoping that if we get enough fans, we could appeal to the powers-that-be for her to be restored to her rightful place. However, I'm now told the signs no longer exist. But maybe this campaign could generate some modern-day interest in Newbery and Biles. We've got lots of artists in this town - maybe Spirit's image could somehow be reinstated in some shape or form."

Town Administrator Linda Bullock said: "Both signs were rotten and removed by the road authority, having been condemned."

"We thought one had been rescued as part of our heritage and had been given to the museum some years ago but this was not so. We made the necessary contacts to try to trace what had happened to them but sadly they must have been destroyed."

Re-elected MP at the heart of coalition negotiations

WEST Dorset's re-elected MP was at the heart of negotiations over the future of Britain's government just hours after securing his fourth consecutive win, meeting with Liberal Democrat representatives to discuss a possible Conservative-Lib Dem coalition.

Tory MP Oliver Letwin, the brains behind the Conservative manifesto, said he would not celebrate regaining his parliamentary seat with a glass of champagne after fighting off a strong Lib Dem candidate in this year's election.

Having increased his majority of 3,923 votes, a clearly relieved Mr Letwin drove straight to London to meet Tory leader David Cameron and other Conservative colleagues after the declaration on Friday (May 7th) morning.

This year saw the former Shadow Home Secretary gain his biggest majority to date, securing 47.6 per cent of the electorate's vote.

In his fourth consecutive win, Mr Letwin - who has held a seat in the constituency for 13 years - increased his 2005 count by 1,462 to finish with 27,287 votes.

Overall voter turnout may have been down by 1.8 per cent with a total of 57,334 of the constituency's electorate turning out - but it still remained one of the country's highest at 74.7 per cent.

All ballot boxes were taken to Dorchester's Thomas Hardy Sports Leisure Centre for the official count.

A total of 1,543 postal votes were not lodged in time for the count, with only 9,778 of the sent forms received by the 10pm closing deadline.

Following the declaration, a visibly pleased Mr Letwin said: "It's always a relief to hear you have won."

"I've learnt over the years in every single election not to pay too much attention to the predictions. That is why I have to work for every single vote. For 13 years I've worked so hard but I think a large number of people have voted for a change of government."

"I'm not under the illusion it was a personal thing; people were making an issue of wanting a change."

"I'm not going to celebrate this win. I'm getting into a car to go to London to meet with David Cameron and my other colleagues. I won't be raising a glass of champagne yet."

The other story surrounded UKIP's Oliver Chisholm who increased the party's vote by 1,112 to 2,196, 3.8 per cent of the vote.

West Dorset had been identified as a key Lib Dem seat, however the past fortnight's enthusiasm for the party did not manifest itself in the polling station.

A hard fought seat saw Sue Farrant increasing the Lib Dem's vote by 1,062 to finish with 23,364, 40.8 per cent of the vote.

Both Labour and the Green Party lost votes with Steve Bick losing 309 votes to finish with 3,815 (6.7 per cent) and Sue Greene 277 votes to finish with 675 (1.2 per cent).

RE-ELECTED | West Dorset MP Oliver Letwin didn't have time to celebrate his victory, as he was involved in Conservative/Lib Dem negotiations as soon as it was apparent there was a hung parliament

STUCK IN THE MUD | Volunteers got messy as they created a natural lining for the pond

VOLUNTEERS at Bridport's Community Orchard got their hands, and feet, dirty as they spent the weekend mud puddling.

Around 30 volunteers chopped, stomped and squelched their way through 20 tons of clay as they helped to make a natural lining for their community pond.

After a failed attempt last year the group left nothing to chance and were pleased to see on Monday morning that their pond had retained water.

Community Orchard Chairman Jill Lloyd said: "It was hard work chopping the clay, then puddling it into the pond, and everyone became muddy, but spirits remained high and with refreshments provided by other volunteers, the workers kept going. Many visitors who came to watch and encourage all wanted to know where the clay came from, so here is the answer - 'off the back of a lorry'."

G. Crook and Sons of Dorchester dug it up in Crossways, and delivered it to Bridport.

Clive Richards delivered it to the orchard, with kind support from Bridport Town Council.

"We hope the community will now enjoy it; do go and look, but please be careful the water is deep. Please do not add anything to this pond as we are monitoring the wildlife."

"We have more clay than we were able to use. If you want to take some, for your own use, for modelling, or potting, please do. Obviously from the pile not the pond!"

Head gardener Andy Jeffries added: "After last year's problems, we are delighted to prove our belief that clay is a natural lining for ponds, more environmentally friendly than plastic pond liner, and will last for ever."

"All the Victorian canals in England are clay lined, and although they need patching occasionally, as our pond may, they stand the test of time."

Playground safe for time being under new proposals

A CHILDREN'S play area and residents rights to alter their house will not be immediately affected if proposals to safeguard Bridport's charm and heritage are implemented.

West Dorset District Council have said the changes to the conservation boundaries in three key areas of the town will not prevent people from applying for alterations to their houses.

Proposals include extending conservation areas at St Andrew's Road, Skilling and the cemetery.

The immediate future of the playground backing onto the cemetery should also be safe in the short term but could be returned to cemetery use at some future date.

WDDC is responsible for deciding which places in West Dorset should be conservation areas and for ensuring their special qualities are safeguarded.

WDDC's Development Services manager John Greenslade said: "We are lucky to have so many beautiful market towns and villages in West Dorset."

"Conservation areas highlight what makes these communities special and will help keep them that way. I would encourage everyone with an interest in their future to let us have their views on latest proposals."

"Conservation areas are about managing change, rather than preventing it, to ensure that the special qualities of an area are respected."

Conservation areas are places of special architectural or historic interest that are given protection to ensure people can continue to enjoy their character for years to come.

West Dorset has 79 conservation areas, for which there is an ongoing programme of review that includes reviewing Bridport's 2004 conservation area appraisal, which remains relevant and useful in guiding planning in Bridport.

Planning decisions are based on a thorough understanding of the conservation area's character in order to effectively conserve the area's special interest.

Appraisals are also of prime importance for informing any enhancement works and may provide a longer-term basis for effective management of conservation areas.

Conservation area appraisals are therefore essential tools for the planning process.

The extension proposals can be viewed at www.dorsetforyou.com/396527 and comments made to Shelley Saltman at WDDC before June 30th.

Officers from WDDC will be on hand to answer questions on the proposals at Bridport Arts Centre on Friday, June 4th from 9am to 6pm.

Proposals and comment forms are also available from Bridport Town Council offices, Bridport Library and Skilling Stores.

It is not proposed to amend the conservation area appraisal, which is available at www.dorsetforyou.com

West Bay B&B to feature in new Channel Four series

■ THREE IN A BED: Michelle and Steve Blakesley own The White House at West Bay

WEST BAY Bed and Breakfast owners Michelle and Steve Blakesley will get their fifteen minutes of fame next week when they appear on a Channel Four reality show.

The couple, who run The White House, were selected from thousands of applicants and will now appear on the TV show Three In A Bed.

The show pits contrasting B&Bs across the country against each other as they try to impress each other and prove that their business offers its guests the best value for money.

During the show, which was filmed in November last year, Michelle and Steve, stayed at a five star silver B&B in Cheshire, a five star Gold B&B in Suffolk and welcomed both rivals to their own four star establishment.

During each visit the couple were filmed for three days from the moment they woke up to the second they went to bed and the hours of footage will now be condensed into a one-hour show.

As part of their hosting Michelle and Steve took their guests to enjoy the delights of the Jurassic coast and dined out at Hix's Oyster bar in Lyme Regis.

Steve said: "We never laughed so much all the way through it. The program is very confrontational and very funny; with ours the cameraman was actually shaking with laughter."

"I have spoken to other guys who have been on previously and they are the same as us, very apprehensive because it will be the first time we have seen it.

"There was hours of filming which will be cut down to 20 minutes for our section but I'm quite confident about it.

"We gained a lot from the experience. There are little tips we picked up here and there because obviously they were very experienced B&B owners.

"We had a lot of fun doing it and I would say to anyone who is thinking of applying to have a go, it can only promote your business."

To find out how The White House got on tune into Channel Four at 8pm on Wednesday May 19th.

Out for the count at key seat battle

THE returning officer David Clarke raises his voice above the nervous chatter. A hush sweeps across the gymnasium. Sections of the crowd start moving towards one corner of the vast room and huddle in a circle.

It's been just over four hours since the polling stations closed and the 107 ballot boxes have been whisked to Dorchester's Thomas Hardy Leisure centre from the farthest reaches of West Dorset's constituency.

Boxes containing 57,334 little slips of paper each bearing a small cross from people hoping for a big change.

Although overall voter turnout is down by 1.8 per cent from 2005's election, it is still one of the countries highest at 74.7 per cent, proving West Dorset's electorate care passionately about this contest.

The huddle disperses and the chat once again becomes excitable. It marks the beginning of the end to 2010's general election, which has managed to sweep the nation with genuine excitement. One candidate walks away thin lipped and serious; the other wide mouthed and joyous.

Family and friends surround the candidates. All give nervous smiles, their inwardly tense body language is being masked by attempts to look outwardly relaxed.

West Dorset District Council's staff, including 74 tellers, have been busy in the previous four hours sorting and re-sorting, counting and placing the slips of paper into piles of first 20s then 2,500s.

Toward the back of the room those bundles of ballot papers piled up as the count drew to a close.

All eyes were trained on the coloured cards which slowly filled the trestle table; most eyes were focused on the blue and yellow signs, which signified the way things were going for the main candidates: Conservative's Oliver Letwin and Lib Dem's Sue Farrant; a visual representation of a month's tireless door-to-door canvassing, leaflet dropping and hustings.

Before the declaration, Labour's Steve Bick stands alone, looking at the pile of ballot papers on the far table flagged with a red piece of card.

Labour have always been the third party in West Dorset. Nothing's changed.

Dr Bick acknowledges the resurgence in the Lib Dem's popularity in the borough.

"They've been keen to win the seat," he says. "But it looks like we are in third place so we've not been beaten by UKIP or the Green Party."

It's now 2:20am on Friday, May 7th. And before the official declaration has been announced the room knows that Oliver Letwin has held his seat for the third consecutive election; not only holding it, but as we will later discover, increasing his majority by 3,923 votes. A total of 27,287 Tories have spoken. The Lib Dem's dream of taking power in West Dorset is over – for now at least.

Dr Farrant is the Tory's nearest rival. The Lib Dem candidate will later say she is pleased with the amount of votes she received.

"We've put a huge amount of effort and time

View From's PAUL CROMPTON spent the night at Dorchester's Thomas Hardy School for the Dorset West general election count, sharing the tension and drama of the evening with the candidates into this, and of course we are disappointed we didn't win the seat this time," she says.

Thanking the people who had helped during her campaign, the ex-army officer finishes by saying: "I pledge to continue working hard in your (the constituency's) best interest to make our society fairer."

A media scrum ensues around the winner. A few party soundbites from the man acknowledged as the brains behind the Tory's manifesto makes his way to the stage. The other four candidates follow in his wake.

Mr Clarke steps to the microphone: "Being the Acting Returning Officer for the West Dorset constituency, I hereby declare that the votes cast in the election for each candidate were as follows."

Labour's Steve Bick: 3,815; UKIP's Oliver

Chisholm: 2,196; Lib Dem Sue Farrant: 23,364; Green Party's Sue Greene: 675; Conservative's Oliver Letwin: 17,287.

Mr Clarke then says: "And I hereby declare that the said Oliver Letwin is elected to serve as Member of Parliament for this constituency".

Not a flicker of emotion crosses the former Shadow Home Secretary's face. He steps toward the microphone and thanks his fellow candidates.

The seasoned politician is too wise to get caught up in public shows of self-congratulation – he has work to do.

After the host of media interviews for Sky, the BBC, local radio and print media he won't put his feet up and toast his victory with a glass of champagne, he will jump in a car and head toward London to meet with Tory leader David Cameron and his colleagues to discuss the next step in a hung parliament.

He will later be one of the Tories' three-man team negotiating with the Lib Dems over a coalition government.

Before he makes it to the door, I stop the man thought of as Mr Cameron's chief advisor, and ask for his reaction.

With a broad smile he says: "It's always a relief to hear you have won. I've learnt over the years in every single election not to pay too much attention to the predictions. That is why I have to work for every single vote.

"For 13 years I've worked so hard, but I think a large number of people have voted for a change of government.

LETWIN CAMPAIGNERS: THANK YOU

THROUGH the View from Bridport I would like to say both a personal and a public 'thank you' to everyone that helped to re-elect Oliver Letwin.

I am grateful to every member, supporter and activist for fighting and campaigning so hard for the past few weeks.

I know how difficult and demanding it was and how weary we all are now. However, it was worth it and we should be pleased with the result.

As a consequence of our campaign, we have managed to identify and recruit more local people who agree with the Conservative message - and we plan to capitalise on this during the coming months.

It is clear that Oliver's hard work and his dedication to the all the constituents of West Dorset contributed to his increased majority.

I am sure that Oliver will soon be at the heart of a new Government. I wish him every success.

We must find use for library

ON BEHALF of the community of Bridport and the surrounding areas, we do not want an empty tomb in the town like the old library in East Street.

We understand that things are in progress to find a use for the building if it was restored.

Well maybe we could use it as a place for local artists to show their works and for local theatre groups to rehearse and store equipment because this can become a problem at times.

It could have a games room, music rooms all sorts of venues inside. I am sure that the people of Bridport could think of a lot more uses for it so lets get going.

Our suggestion is that we call it "Arts for All in Dorset" and highlight the talent we have to offer.

Hugh to cook up a treat for dancers

BALLROOM dancers in Bridport will be challenging a celebrity chef's 'cha cha' next week as he tries to tempt them with his cooking.

Next Tuesday (May 18th) Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall will be cooking for the Tea Dancers at Bridport Arts Centre.

The monthly dance for the over 50s, supported by Age Concern, will be filmed by TV crews as Hugh prepares for his upcoming series.

The River Cottage chef will bake a cake for the dancers, to see if they prefer his cooking to their regular fare. Theatre programmer Margie Barbour explains: "We normally offer a selection of cakes and biscuits, as well as fruit, to the tea dancers, who are always ready for a break after 50 minutes of non-stop ballroom dancing with Glenn Bayliss.

"He leads them in party salsa and sequences as well as playing waltzes and tangos. If I am very lucky occasionally I get a twirl with one of the single gentlemen, but we don't know if Hugh is a dancer?"

The tea dance is at 2:30pm and entry costs £3. Anyone who would like to come along should call the Arts Centre on 01308 424204 as numbers are limited.

Councillors should be ashamed

SO WEST Dorset District Council have rubbished the outcome of the Dorchester Town Poll in which nearly everyone voted against their proposed new multi-million pound new offices.

Just as they previously rubbished numerous calls for them to consult the public about the project.

When will they ever learn that they are supposed to be the servants of the people, not their masters. Their behaviour is shameful and they need to be held to account.

Rationing returns to Bridport

A WORLD War II re-enactor from Bridport has been living on rations to raise money for Help for Heroes.

Medical secretary Cheryl Ludgate is a lover of all things wartime and decided to combine her passion with a fundraising challenge.

Throughout the month of February, Cheryl lived on World War Two rations, as they stood in 1942, boosting her diet with homegrown vegetables.

Supporting Cheryl throughout the trip back in time were Frampton's Butchers who provided her with her rations and collected money in store.

Cheryl said: "I learnt that you can do all sorts of things with a small amount of food, I lost weight but I felt quite healthy and it was easy to make up the shortfall with bread and potatoes and vegetables, which you can grow in your own garden.

"I think I will still be eating rabbit stew and corned beef and mustard sandwiches but definitely not tripe.

"As a result I lost over 4lb in weight though that was not the idea behind the experiment, it was more learning about what people ate and how they coped. I am absolutely full of admiration for my parents generation as they had to live on that diet for years and it got even harder in the five years after the war ended."

On Thursday Frampton's Butcher Adam Smith, who himself was forced to pull out of army training with injury, presented Cheryl with the money collected in the store.

So far Cheryl has collected over £65 for the charity. If you would like to donate then visit www.justgiving.com/cheryleats1940s.

Church group on Kenyan trip fundraiser

SLUMMING IT | Laura and Jon Broome with Jack and Charlie Bell

AN EVENING of African celebration was held last week as volunteers prepare for a trip to help the street children of Kenya.

Members of the Christian Fellowship Youth Group are working hard to raise money for a two-week trip to Kisumu, Kenya in August.

The group plan to support, financially and physically, projects on the streets, in schools and in hospitals and hope to raise £1,500 to help fund project work during their trip.

Fundraisers hosted an evening of Kenyan fun last Wednesday including typical Kenyan cuisine, trade crafts, a quiz, live music and more.

Fashion show is a step back in time

AUTHENTIC Jane Austin era dresses were the star turn at a rare fundraising fashion show in Bridport.

The Corsets 'n' Crinolines show saw Victorian and regency era dresses and men's outfits displayed in all their glory to raise funds for Help For Heroes.

The catwalk style show included everything the authentic 19th century lady had to endure to be fashionable, including mourning dress, ballgowns, Victorian bustles and tailored suits.

The show finished with clothes from the turn of the 20th century, with teagowns and accompanying music from the period.

Organiser Theresa Weller chose the Help For Heroes charity because a friend's grandson had just been posted to Afghanistan.

Mrs Weller, who has recently moved away from the town, gained her admiration for that era of fashion from her Victorian grandmother who kept lots of childhood parasols and knickers from the era.

It was a rare opportunity to examine authentic 19th century clothes up close at the United Church Hall.

Police call to owners of newly banned handgun

DORSET Police is urging anyone in possession of a Bruni Olympic .380 BBM revolver to hand it in before midnight on June 4th.

When originally imported, the Bruni Olympic .380 BBM did not require a licence to own and is commonly known as a "blank firer" used for dog training or starting races.

The BBM could be purchased through registered firearms dealers and other outlets such as hobbyist stores, agricultural merchants and model shops, but increased criminal use of such revolvers led to national tests being carried out to assess the skills and equipment needed to convert them into live firing weapons.

It emerged that this type of revolver could be readily converted into a lethally barrelled weapon, bringing it within the classification of a prohibited weapon under Section Five of the Firearms Act 1968.

Police say that anyone found in possession of a Bruni Olympic .380 BBM revolver after June 4th could be liable to prosecution and upon conviction face a five year mandatory prison sentence.

All police stations will receive surrendered weapons during normal opening hours to encourage those members of the public who use this gun legitimately to hand it in before June 4th to avoid later prosecution.

The importation of these revolvers into the UK has now been banned.

Specialist operations head Superintendent Charlie Eggar said: "Nationally the number of converted weapons being seized by the police has steadily increased which led to research being conducted that concluded that conversion was now relatively simple.

"As a result, the Bruni Olympic .388 BBM anyone in possession of one would face a five year mandatory prison sentence.

"There are likely to be a number of these weapons in the possession of sports clubs, schools, theatrical groups, gun dog training schools and similar organisations in addition to private ownership.

For Dorset Police stations opening hours

please check the Dorset Police website www.dorset.police.uk

Anyone with information relating to gun crime should call Dorset Police on 01202 or 01305 222222 or the free and anonymous Crimestoppers line on 0800 555111.

Julia's House to open new wing

JULIA'S House, the only hospice in Dorset dedicated to children with life-limiting conditions, will officially open a new Families and Therapies wing at their hospice in Corfe Mullen next Wednesday.

The special ceremony will be attended by some of the families it cares for and charity patrons Martin Clunes, Liz Yelling and Chris Jarvis.

The new wing will allow the charity to offer round the clock care and provide vital end-of-life care and support to children and their families in the hospice.

The opening will be marked with a red ribbon cutting ceremony and blessing at 3pm, conducted by the Bishop of Sherborne.

Julia's House cares for nearly 100 children with life-limited conditions, who are unlikely to live beyond the age of 18.

It is estimated around 215 Dorset children and their families are eligible for the unique service it provides.

Martin Edwards, Julia's House Chief Executive, commented: "It has always been our dream to move beyond day care at the hospice, and now that dream has come true.

"Families with a child who is dying can now choose where they want the expert nursing support that we offer.

"Whether they wish to be supported at home or in the hospice for the final stages of their child's journey, we will be there for them."

Funding has been possible through the Pyjama Appeal, backed by Martin Clunes, Harry Redknapp, Liz Yelling, Chris Jarvis and Lesley Waters.

The dedicated campaign website www.pyjamaappeal.co.uk is full of inspiring fundraising ideas of how you can help provide overnight and end-of-life care for Dorset children and their families. Or you can call 01202 607400 to simply make a donation.

runs from 6pm until 8.30pm.

Tickets are available by contacting the fundraising department on 01305 215315 or visit the website www.weld-hospice.org.uk/winetasting.

Groves Nurseries

You would imagine that planting perennial (permanent) plants would be the solution to easy gardening, but life 'aint' that easy, for one thing they tend in time to get weeds entangled in their roots and it becomes a labour of love trying to remove them throughout the season, the other problem is that most of them have just a short period of flowering and you have to make a careful choice of what you purchase. Some people, especially those with a new garden, tend to visit a garden centre and buy loads of plants that are flowering at that particular visit, the problem is that they usually stop flowering at the same time and your garden is left devoid of colour for the rest of the year, so, what's the solution? The obvious one is to make regular visits throughout the year to your garden centre, that way you will see various groups of plants to get colour from all the year round, at Groves you can talk to our plants men who actually spend time growing and producing plants in our nursery, real practical plants persons, so don't be frightened to ask for advice. Another solution is to have a mixture of perennial plants and annual plants, this can be achieved by perhaps having shrubs at the back of the border and perennials like lupines delphiniums etc in the middle and front, but leaving pockets of bare earth to plant annual flowering plants in, like begonias, busy lizzies, petunias pansies etc., most of these annuals will flower continuously throughout the summer and you can replace them if you wish in the autumn with spring flowering plants and bulbs.

Flowers also have their place in the vegetable garden, we have an experimental potager garden at Groves, where we mix flowers and vegetables together, flowers like French marigolds and tagetes to deter naughty bugs like blackfly and greenfly, but there is also a need to attract beneficial insects like bees to pollinate your beans etc, this can be done by planting verbena bonariensis, lavender, sedums etc, it is a fine balance to get a healthy garden and chemicals shouldn't be relied on to achieve this, especially in a vegetable garden.

Finally a word on potting compost and manure. Never just use your garden soil to pot up your plants, its very unsuitable in containers as it goes down to mud and doesn't allow your plants roots to breathe, it really is best to buy a purpose made compost, multi purpose for sowing seed and potting up young plants, if you intend to plant a more permanent tub, you should use a John Innes potting compost no.2 or 3 for shrubby species or a potting and container mix for a summer long bedding container

Don't let things get to complicated, keep your gardening simple and remember its YOUR garden, so do what YOU want and don't be deterred by others.

Jottings from the Potting Shed

With the weather in April being not too bad, you should hopefully have been able to crack on and have got lots done. The lawn now needs to be brought up to scratch with a good feed and weed. Now's the time, if you've not already done so, to plant up hanging baskets, tubs and containers. Plants that are looking their best this month include Wisteria, Lilac, Brooms, Ceanothus and Clematis. A lot of herbaceous perennials come good this month too with Hardy Geraniums, Aquilegia, Paeonies, Dicentra or bleeding hearts and Bearded Iris. Late flowering tulips, fritillarias and hardy orchids also give some welcome colour if you planted them last autumn. Let's hope the weather continues to be good this month with some, but not too much rain.

Beds & Borders The threat of frost has hopefully now passed and tender bedding plants can be planted in the border. Before planting ensure that the soil has been prepared, a layer of garden compost or composted manure should be forked in to provide the soil with aeration, water and nutrient holding capabilities. At the same time apply a dressing of 'Pelleted Chicken Manure' at 4oz per sq yard (140g per sq metre), this will provide a great start for the plants' needs. Slow perennials like aubretia, aquilegia, delphiniums and lupin along with biennial wall-flowers and annual candytuft, french marigolds and nasturtiums. All of these will need protecting from slugs and snails, thinly scatter some slug pellets amongst the newly sown seed. Roses and other flowering shrubs can be given a feed using 'Toprose' this is a long lasting feed that will last all season.

Topical Tip If you've just a few weeds to kill in the lawn then use Verdone ready to use lawn weed killer spray. There is no mixing so no measuring or spilling and no waste. Children and pets just need to be kept off during use and for drying then they can be allowed to use the lawn again immediately afterwards.

The Greenhouse Cuttings of fuchsias and geraniums can now be taken before they produce flowering buds. These will produce excellent flowering plants later in the season. Dip the cuttings in Rooting Powder before sticking into small pots filled with 'Arthur Bowers Multi-purpose Compost' or 'Seed & Cutting Compost'. They should root in about two to three weeks. Hanging baskets, tubs and window boxes etc should be planted this month. To keep these plants looking at their very best make sure you add the two following ingredients to the compost. The first is 'Watergel', this will store up moisture and release it back as the compost dries out. The second is 'Osmocote Tablets', these are slow release plant food which is ideal for baskets, tubs, window boxes and patio pots. It lasts for six months and all you have to do is push three or four tablets into the compost after you've finished planting up. Once the summer bedding and patio plants have been moved out, greenhouse crops like tomatoes, cucumbers, melons and peppers should have priority. Tomatoes, peppers and aubergines should be planted at three to a grobag and cucumbers and melons two to a grobag. To get the best from your grobag crops remember to feed them regularly and do use Tomorite, it's still the best.

On The Plot Conditions will have improved enough to allow for the planting of runner and French beans, sweetcorn and marrows. The secret of a good crop is in the soil, particularly in the case of runner beans and marrows. Prepare the beds before planting by digging in garden compost or composted manure. This month will see pests becoming a problem, these should be quickly identified and controlled by using either 'Provado Bug Killer' or 'Bug Gun for Fruit & Vegetables' to prevent the build up of infestations. If you are not sure what the problem is then bring some in to the shop in a sealed poly bag and we will happily identify the problem and advise you on the best course of action. Remember we do this for free. Powdery Mildew will begin to attack most soft fruits and tree fruit this month and should be quickly controlled using 'Bayer Systhane Fungicide' which is quite safe to use on most fruit crops.

Lawns Turfing and seeding can continue this month providing it is not too dry, but seed should be sown as quickly as possible to allow establishment before possible dry conditions. A light sprinkling of 'Growmore' about 4oz per sq yard (140g per sq metre) one week prior to sowing will help both seed and turf to get established. Water the areas regularly in dry weather. When watering turf, lift the corners of one or two to make sure that the soil underneath has been thoroughly moistened. Use Evergreen Complete, it's a great feed, weed and moss killer that will rid your lawn of those difficult weeds and give it a useful feed at the same time. ## Aqua King

Aqua King Construction is a swimming pool installation specialist company based in South Somerset. Shane King has been involved in the swimming pool industry for 20 years. He is a Member of the Institute of Swimming Pool Engineers www.ispe.co.uk. His expertise is the installation of indoor and outdoor in ground swimming pools.

If you are considering either a liner or concrete pool, we recommend you arrange a free site visit to receive initial advice and cost estimate. If ancillary building work is required to complement the installation of a pool ie pool houses, pergolas, extra paving, retaining walls and general landscaping then Aqua King would be delighted to include a price for this work with their quotation. (Construction needs to be divided into five categories) able in a variety of colours and patterns.

Reinforced Concrete Pool A reinforced concrete pool is a luxury top end specification for a swimming pool as it is more expensive to construct and finish than a liner pool. The shell is built of steel reinforced concrete; waterproof render is applied and finished in tiles, natural stone or pool plaster.

Indoor Pools If an indoor pool is to be constructed in either an existing building or a new purpose built pool house, Aqua King can undertake the entire project including air handling and dehumidification.

Swimming Pool Covers Aqua King will advise on the wide variety of covers available. If the budget permits the installation of a fully automatic safety cover Aqua King is a recommend dealer of Dripool Automatic Safety Covers www.dripool.co.uk

Swimming Pool Design Aqua King draws upon its considerable experience to offer advice on pool design, size, position etc. However, we can quote from existing architect or garden design plans. Alternatively, we can be involved with these meetings from the start to assist with technical detail.

If you wish to commission a detailed pool specification plans, including all the technical detail, these can be drawn up at an extra cost. This is not normally necessary for an outdoor domestic pool.

If you already have a swimming pool and would like it refurbished, upgraded or need to replace equipment, Aqua King would be delighted to be of assistance.

The installation of a swimming pool is a specialist construction. Aqua King offers a consultation package, including the supply of pool equipment. This option suits the self builder or a client with other building contractors already working on site who require technical assistance.

Aqua King offers a pool maintenance and service contract including the supply of chemicals. Shane is fully qualified to advise on pool sanitation and water chemistry.

Good time had by all at Mosterton fayre

■ THE annual Mosterton May Fayre was enjoyed by all despite the cold weather, writes EMMA SELDON. There were a variety of stalls and activities ran by various village groups such as Mosterton Pre School, the Womens Institute and St Marys Church to name a few.

These included craft stalls selling handmade cards, plants, locally made cakes, jams, quiches and produce, bric-a-brac, and tombola. There was also ferret racing, a fun dog show and even face painting (Tom and Katy are pictured above), with food and refreshments being served throughout the afternoon.

After the May Fayre there was a children's disco at the village hall between 5pm and 7pm where again a good time was had by all and refreshments were again served. Some of the youngest party-goers were only 20 months old!

This was followed later in the evening by a social evening for the adults, which everyone is very grateful for as the local pub is not open at present.

SALWAY ASH

AMONGST the good news due to be heard at the church's annual meeting on April 28th is that a £3,000 loan has been converted to a grant.

The development means the Holy Trinity Church can proceed with their plans to replace guttering and drainpipes around the building.

The money was originally lent by the Dorset Historic Churches Trust in 2009 but was made into a grant last month.

During the annual meeting all church council members stand down. So if you would like to be nominated for a post on the council, contact secretary Marion Gadsby on 488294.

SOUTH PERROTT & CHEDDINGTON

A GRAND total of £164.50 was raised for Shelterbox during a Lent Lunch.

Hosts Peter and Joy thanked the 25 people who attended for their generosity.

Meanwhile, Wendy Stevenette held a Lent Lunch in South Perrott and raised £175, which has been sent to Bridport Social and Educational Centre.

And it's that time of year for the Annual Parochial Church meeting, due for this Friday, where villagers can hear about the past year and question the committee about its future plans.

All members of the electoral roll may attend the meeting at 7:30 pm in the church. All attendants will receive a copy of the accounts and annual report.

Anyone unable to attend but wishing to receive a copy should contact churchwarden Peter Coles on 01935 891232.

STOKE ABBOTT

STOKE Abbott is looking for exciting and interesting new local stall holders to add to this year's Stoke Abbott Street Fair.

Taking place on Saturday, July 17th from 2pm to 4:30pm, this ever-popular charity event draws in the crowds every year.

A new novelty dog show and an under-fives soft play area has already been added to the attractions this year.

A stall costs £15 and a table can be provided for an additional £3.

Proceeds from this year's fair will go to St Mary's Church, the village hall and to Julia's House, Dorset's children's hospice.

Anyone interested should please contact Lucia Borradaile on 01308 868424 or Catherine Leech on 01308 867517.

BURTON BRADSTOCK

BURTON Bradstock has welcomed new members onto its parish council.

Sarah Churchill has been co-opted on as a new councillor and Peter Dutton has been elected as vice-chairman of the council. Archie Mackie has been re-elected as chairman.

CATTISTOCK

THROWERS fell short of the records at the third Dorset Knob Throwing contest.

The contest, which runs alongside the Frome Valley Food Fest, attracted 50 local food producers.

Moore's, the makers of the famous Dorset Knob, were once again the star attraction but also the Dorset Blue Cheese & Soup Company who gave enthusiastic assistance with the 'Dorset Blue Vinny Cheese Chucking'.

The Dorset Knob Throwing champions this year were: Jack Guiton for the gents with 25.4 metres; Leah Stewart for the ladies with 16.75 metres; Solo Roper for the under 12's with 16.60 metres.

Giving back to his town

DURING his Army career Douglas Beazer never forgot the happy family upbringing he had back in Beaminster and when he retired after a successful career, he vowed to help give something back to the town.

Doug is a distinguished and well respected member of the community having been a councillor since 1989 including a spell as chairman between 2007 and 2009.

"Beaminster gave me such a wonderful childhood, and I feel now through my work I can give something back to the community I love," he said.

Douglas is also a member of the Royal British Legion where he was treasurer for a decade and was the parade marshall for 15 years until he retired in 2005. He is also a Freemason and has been chairman of the Beaminster Manor Lodge twice, as well as a leading light in the Bridport & District Model Railway Club which he joined in 1989. He retired last year after 25 years service with the Melplash Show.

This week STUART BROOM talks to DOUGLAS BEAZER in the first of a two part feature. Having enjoyed his childhood in Beaminster, he vowed to give something back to the town after a 24 year career in the Army. This week he talks about that childhood and his life as a soldier, where one of his claims to fame was being the first pupil to enter the new comprehensive school at Newtown when it was opened in January 1963.

Douglas was the second eldest of six children of Gerry and Joy, and was born at Horn Ash, near Kittwhistle, at the junction where the B3162 meets the B3165, in April 1948.

Within months the family moved to the newly completed Fairfield Estate off Tunnel Road in Beaminster.

"Mum and Dad had a difficult time bringing up six of us and could not favour one above the other, but we were very happy," he said.

"Two things particularly stood out; Christmas, and summer holidays. We had very traditional Christmases, and up until we went to bed on Christmas Eve there was no sign of any decorations or presents. When we woke in the morning, usually about 4.30am, we opened our stockings on the end of our beds and went down stairs for breakfast. It was only after we had cleared up that dad opened the door to the sitting room which was decorated with trimmings and the tree. They were really wonderful times."

Despite the hard times, in the summer they usually went for a caravan holiday in Cornwall.

Doug said: "Dad was a lorry driver for Perry's and travelled all over the country. He knew several cafes and restaurants where we would stop for meals and drinks on the way."

Although there were times when the siblings; John (the eldest), Robert, Frank, Denise and Janet, didn't always agree, Douglas remembers they generally got on well.

He began his schooling in Beaminster Girls and Infants School in Hogshill Street where he learned to knit dishcloths, before moving on to Beaminster Boys' School in East Street for his junior education.

He said: "The school's classrooms and facilities were all over the place and so the town was always full of children. We did PT in the Public Hall, games at The Memorial Playing Field and school dinners were served in the Red Lion pub, with the girls in what is now the function room and the boys in the adjoining room."

Douglas lays claim to the fact that he was the first pupil to enter the new comprehensive school, now Beaminster Technology College, when it opened in January 1963.

It was during its building that his inquisitive nature began to develop.

"I became interested in its construction and the engineering side of it, and used to visit the site when I could," said Doug.

"In those days there was no health and safety rules so I was able to go where I wanted."

The new facility meant the closure of Beaminster Boys' School and the transfer of the pupils to the new one, so when the school opened Douglas was first in line having queued since 8am.

The caretaker let him in, but because of the snow that affected the winter of 1962/63 was soon closed, and when it reopened two days later, Douglas was once again first in line.

Although he was due to leave school the following summer he stayed on for an extra year to get more qualifications.

Douglas can't really explain why he chose the army as a career except that he felt it suited his inquisitive nature and his brother John was already a soldier.

Having passed the relevant entry exams his first posting was to Arborfield near Reading. He spent three years training as a vehicle mechanic under an apprentice tradesman course, qualifying as a 2nd class starved pupil.

His first unit was the Queen's Dragoon Guards at Warminster where he was posted to Detmold in Germany where they were responsible for the servicing of Centurion and then later Chieftain Tanks. They also provided the armed escort to the civilian British Frontier Service who worked on the East/West German boundary (the Iron Curtain).

Further tours took him to Malta for three years and Cyprus, which included short detachments to many of the Mediterranean countries.

Back in the UK he was posted to Gillingham in Kent where the soldiers used a local pub called The White House. Unknown to Douglas the pub was run by his future in-laws.

Then posted to the headquarters of the NATO Allied Forces Central Europe in Holland he worked with soldiers of many different nationalities.

An artificers training course in Hampshire saw him promoted to Staff Sergeant and a posting to the Aerial Delivery section at the Joint Air Transport Establishment at Brize Norton specialising into research of aerial delivery by parachute.

In his three and a half year posting he was involved in the trials of the first airdrop from the stretched version of the Hercules aircraft.

Further postings followed including Germany with the Coldstream Guards, then onto Cyprus where he became interested in Freemasonry and was approached by a fellow military man to join. When he was posted to Northern Ireland on special duties in the early-mid he joined the Hollywood Lodge on the outskirts of Belfast.

With retirement looming Douglas was posted to Warminster in late 1985 where he decided to take a job at the REME workshops ensuring equipment was Fit For Role. This involved the inspection of aerial delivery items such as parachutes, underslung helicopter equipment and abseiling ropes in use by many varied units around the South West of England.

On leave before taking up the post he returned to Beaminster and bought a cottage in Fleet Street in which he still lives, in readiness for life as a civilian.

He retired in 1988 with the rank of WO1 ASM (Warrant Officer 1st Class, Artificer Sergeant Major).

We conclude Douglas' story in two weeks time with life in civvy street.

'Walk Your Way' to school this May in celebration of Walk to School Week

This May, children right across West Dorset will be striding out on the pavements as they take part in a very important event: National Walk to School Week 2010 (17 - 21 May).

This year, the theme is 'Walk Your Way' which aims to encourage parents and children to get to know their local neighbourhood better by exploring it on foot. In addition to learning more about their local environment, children will be able to learn to orientate themselves on the journey to and from school, as well as learning vital road safety skills and keeping active!

National charity Living Streets works to create safe, attractive and enjoyable streets around the UK. They run the highly successful Walk to School campaign, which encourages over two million children, parents and teachers to leave their cars at home and walk to school.

Over the past two decades, the number of children who walk to school has dropped from 62% to 48%, with an enormous 43% being driven to school in cars - despite the fact that the majority of primary school pupils live within a 20 minute walk of their school.

During Walk to School Week this year, we are asking parents and children to give it a go and to 'Walk Your Way' to school. It's already established that walking is key in fighting childhood obesity, but it can also be beneficial to children in other ways, helping them learn vital road safety skills, to interact with their local environment and to become 'streetwise' and develop independence.

Tony Armstrong, Chief Executive of Living Streets said:

"Young children are often bundled from front door to car door without the opportunity to get out on foot, to learn about road safety and to get to know their local neighbourhood."

"Often parents say they don't have the time to walk, but many people underestimate the time it takes to travel by car or public transport and overestimate how long it takes to walk. By walking, children can be taught important road safety messages, feel part of their community and gain the confidence they deserve."

"Even if you feel you live too far to commute the whole way on foot, why not try to 'park and stride'? You can find somewhere to park away from the school and walk the rest of the way. Not only will you miss the rush to find a parking space, but you will also help ease congestion around the school and fit in some exercise for you and your children."

For more information about national Walk to School Week, please visit www.walktoschool.org.uk.

Around The World In 8-Tea Days!

Following the great success of Char-Chars 'Around the World in 8-Tea Days' tea tastings last Winter, this Dorchester based Tea House has another exciting series of events planned for this Spring and Summer.

The first of these will be their Gluten-Free Day on Saturday 15th May, which concludes Coeliac Awareness Week. Throughout the day Char-Chars will have a selection of tasty gluten-free, dairy-free and lactose-free products for you to sample.

Having developed a mild wheat intolerance herself last year, co-owner Sonja Morgan has found it increasingly difficult to find tasty gluten-free snacks or light lunches when out shopping. "There's a varying quality of gluten-free products available, many of which compromise on taste," says Sonja. "We've strived to find good quality gluten-free food so that coeliacs or people with mild wheat intolerances can enjoy as really tasty light snacks." At Char-Chars you'll find gluten-free soup and sandwiches, delicious cakes and brownies and you could even have a cream tea or toasted teacake! According to one customer recently "you wouldn't know they're gluten-free!"

And what better to accompany it than a good cup of tea! Although you'll see over 30 different teas on offer, owners Sonja and Phil Morgan have designed their tea menu to help make your choice easy. "We are passionate about our tea and only serve the finest quality loose leaf, but there are thousands of teas on the market and the choice can be daunting. If you know what you like or simply want to be adventurous, our menu will help you choose." Staff at Char-Chars share their passion about tea too, and with a different tea frequently on the brew, you can invariably sample something a little different.

Char-Chars Tea House is just a few doors up from M & S on the main pedestrian street in Dorchester.

Spooky company for high tea!

Built in 1635, this Grade II listed building is one of the oldest in the town and was the Abbot's residence. It has been a tea room since 1902 and has been superbly and sympathetically renovated by the current owners, Derek and Deborah Dalley, including the refurbishment of the old gas lamps which still work.

They also found a copy of the Abbot's Bible with a 15th century cover over a 12th century manuscript, lodged up the main chimney.

Derek is a chef and prepares most of the food which he tries to source from local farms and producers in the country. All of the cakes and scones are baked fresh every morning, and they serve good, hearty breakfasts from 7.30am to 10.00am.

As well as the traditional 'cream teas' there is always homemade soup of the day, a wide selection of sandwiches and hot baguettes and a daily 'specials' board.

The building is also a favourite for paranormal investigators and is said to be one of the most haunted places in England!

Tea and history anyone?

The Duke of Monmouth landed at Lyme Regis on the 11th June 1685 to challenge King James' claim to the throne, following the death of Charles II. He assembled an army in excess of 3,000 men and marched to Sedgemoor in Somerset.

He was defeated by the King's army in less than a month. Around 1300 were taken prisoner. Five Judges came to Dorchester with the infamous Judge Jeffreys, whose reputation was that of the 'hanging judge'.

In September 1685, 312 cases were heard in the Oakroom at the rear of the Antelope Hotel; of these 292 were sentenced to death. Only 74 were executed, with 175 transported, 9 were fined or whipped and 54 were discharged.

Judge Jeffreys – having his eye on promotion – was later made Lord Chancellor.

When King James fell and William of Orange landed in Torbay, Jeffreys was captured and imprisoned in the Tower of London. He died in 1689 while awaiting trial, probably of natural causes.

Rumours at the time said he has been poisoned while in the Tower and that his body had been returned to Dorchester and walled up in the Courtroom – now the Oakroom. This 17th Century Oak panelled room has been carefully restored to maintain its character and original features.

Today it is called The Oakroom and is a delightful tea-room, with a peaceful, tranquil atmosphere, replicating the style and service of a Lyons Corner House.

The Oakroom of today serves a variety of light meals throughout the day and service is a high priority. The staff at the Oakroom pride themselves on their high levels of customer service, creating a warm, homely atmosphere where you can enjoy lovely lunches and of course, Dorset clotted cream teas.

True hidden treasure from the bottom of the sea!

BILLY THE FISH originally opened its doors as a fish monger with a table in the shop front that could seat eight people. On occasion people would request that they eat their locally caught fish in the fishmongers so they'd get it at its absolute freshest.

Billy the proprietor saw this as a great opportunity to offer his customers a unique dining experience in Dorchester and soon obtained the next-door building that had previously been operating as a model car shop.

Billy's vision was to offer his customers the chance to pick fresh fish from the counter and watch from their tables as it was filleted and cooked before them whilst they chatted with the chefs so as to learn the art and also mention personal preferences, tastes or dietary requirements.

The restaurant that Billy created now seats 36 and more if the venue is booked for private buffet parties. The business also has been known to cater for wedding parties, birthdays (with karaoke) and also special cook nights where you can (in small groups at a time) actually go into the kitchen and take part in the process of filleting and cooking the fish.

There are lunch and evening menus containing all fresh locally caught fish, meat and vegetarian options, vegetables which come, in particular, from Billy's father's allotment which adds to the friendly local feel of the business.

Lunch is served daily from 11-4pm and evening dinner from Thursday to Saturday from 7pm-late but Billy would like to make it clear that if you wish to book a table for an evening that is not advertised as open, the team will gladly open the restaurant to meet your needs. The fish counter is open Monday - Friday between 9-5pm.

Billy the Fish is a quirky and unique dining experience that should be tried by all lovers of fresh fish. The style and layout of the restaurant and kitchen provides a great atmosphere in which to dine as customers and staff can communicate freely.

Shelley the chef would like to recommend trying live lobsters and crabs cooked to order, the stuffed lemon sole with chopped coriander, parsley, capers, lemon zest, and black pepper layered on one fillet and covered with the other or the mixed platter of fish or shellfish. Whatever your taste the diverse menu that can be flexibly personalised to your specific needs is well worth a look.

View 2 Music

Fairport Convention:
Still going strong

THE David Hall in South Somerset has steadily built-up a well earned reputation as one of the South West's premier venues for folk music. Last week folk rock legends Fairport Convention played not one but two nights at the former church, confirming the South Petherton venue's status.

Fairport have been at the top of their genre for more than 40 years. Their first self-titled album was released in 1967, but it wasn't until What We Did On Our Holidays a year later that things got really interesting. It was on this album Sandy Denny joined the already impressive line-up, that included the likes of esteemed singer-songwriter Richard Thompson, and the band's place in the history books seemed assured.

The following year's album (in those days it was the norm for a group to release at least one new album every year) featured Sandy's 'Who Knows Where The Time Goes?' which won a recent BBC Radio Two poll to find listeners' Favourite Folk Track Of All Time.

That tune's parent album, Unhalfbricking, is seen as transitional, with the band moving away from its American influences to more traditional English folk songs. The next record, Liege & Leaf, cemented British folk rock as a specific genre and remains one of the most celebrated of all folk albums to this day.

OLD BANDMATE | Guitarist and singer-songwriter Richard Thompson was in Fairport Convention from 1967-1971 when the band was at its peak

Fast forward 41 years later; Richard Thompson has long left the band and Sandy Denny has been dead for 32 years. Line-ups have changed and the band's fortunes have gone both up and down, but the current Fairport has been together for 12 years and features lead singer and guitarist Simon Nicol (whose involvement with the band can be traced right back to the first album) as well as bass player Dave Pegg (who played on most of those classic Thompson and Denny era albums).

It goes without saying the band are still revered, especially amongst folk fans. The group even organise their own annual festival - Fairport's Cropredy Convention - which attracts around 20,000 people every year.

The second of last week's concerts, which I was lucky enough to catch, was a demonstration of superb musicianship and a folk band still at the top of their game.

There may have been one too many bad jokes and plugs for their Cropredy festival, but a sterling performance nevertheless. Some members of the bands looked almost smug as they played their eclectic mixture of instruments that included a bass ukulele and an electric octave mandolin (which looked like an odd-shaped eight-string guitar).

Highlights of the evening included a number featuring all of the band on ukulele as well as a haunting tribute to Sandy Denny with an emotive version of 'Who Knows Where The Time Goes?'

As much as I enjoyed the night, I did go home with the impression I'd missed the band at their best. I stayed up until the small hours tracking down classic Fairport tunes from the late Sixties and early Seventies.

Who does know where the time goes?

Oscar for the Marine Theatre

WRITTEN and performed in 1960 by honorary Irish theatrical polymath Micheál Mac Liammóir, The Importance of Being Oscar toured the world to critical exultation and popular adulation. Fifty years on, the show is as captivating and magical as ever, and is coming to the Marine Theatre in Lyme Regis as part of a UK tour by the Original Theatre Company.

Staged as a single-hander, and directed by Tom Neill, The Importance of Being Oscar is a tribute to Oscar Wilde, the first modern man; a theatrical luminary and flamboyant socialite, as his private and public lives are creatively juxtaposed with extracts from his poems, letters, plays and novels including, amongst others 'An Ideal Husband', 'The Picture of Dorian Gray' and 'The Ballad of Reading Gaol'.

Oscar Fingal O'Flahertie Wills Wilde's was born in 1854 into an Anglo-Irish family in Dublin, and his rich and dramatic portrayals of the human condition were a celebrated feature of the Victorian era. Regarded as one of the nation's greatest playwrights and famous for his superbly sharp wit, Wilde wrote and produced nine plays during his lifetime, and one novel: The Picture of Dorian Gray. His works continue to be widely performed today especially The Importance of Being Earnest.

Originally commissioned in 2009 to celebrate South Hill Park Arts Centre's 25th anniversary, The Importance of Being Oscar has been freshly re-directed and designed for touring by nationally renowned Original Theatre Company. Formed in 2004 by Creative Director Alastair Whatley, The Original Theatre Company is an acclaimed touring company based in the market town of Bury St Edmunds in Suffolk. The company has built up its ever increasing reputation performing new and classical texts with its own brand of daring innovation; playing often in unconventional locations - cliff tops, abbey ruins, school yards, stately homes, libraries, football grounds and pub gardens. In recent years the company has ventured into touring Great Britain's theatres. Original Theatre has played some of the smallest, some of the oldest and some of the largest and most prestigious theatres in the country.

The Importance of Being Oscar is at the Marine Theatre on Friday, May 21st at 8pm. Tickets cost £11.50 (£9.50), available from Lyme Regis Tourist Information Centre on 01297 442138, on the door, or online at www.marinetheatre.org.uk.

Poetry for Pleasure

by Frank McGarry

"I remember, I remember/The house where I was born/The little window where the sun/Came peeping in at morn..."

THOMAS Hood's poem, of which these are the opening lines, has appeared in numerous anthologies on both sides of the Atlantic. It evokes, for many readers, memories of their own childhood days. A similarly nostalgic poem was written by Abraham Lincoln. The 16th U.S. President was a contemporary of Hood's so it is unlikely either would have been aware of the other man's work. At twenty verses the full poem is longer than his 278-word Gettysburg address. This is the first half of it.

My Childhood Home I See Again

*My childhood's home I see again,
And sudden with the view;
And still, as memory crowds my brain,
There's pleasure in it too.*

*O Memory! thou midway world
'Twixt earth and paradise,
Where things decayed and loved ones lost
In dreamy shadows rise,*

*And, freed from all that's earthly vile,
Seem hallowed, pure, and bright,
Like scenes in some enchanted isle
All bathed in liquid light.*

*As dusky mountains please the eye
When twilight chases day;
As bugle-tones that, passing by,
In distance die away;*

*As leaving some grand waterfall,
We, lingering, list its roar--
So memory will hallow all
We've known, but know no more.*

*Near twenty years have passed away
Since here I bid farewell
To woods and fields, and scenes of play,
And playmates loved so well.*

*Where many were, but few remain
Of old familiar things;
But seeing them, to mind again
The lost and absent brings.*

*The friends I left that parting day,
How changed, as time has sped!
Young childhood grown, strong manhood gray,
And half of all are dead.*

*I hear the loved survivors tell
How nought from death could save,
Till every sound appears a knell,
And every spot a grave.*

*I range the fields with pensive tread,
And pace the hollow rooms,
And feel (companion of the dead)
I'm living in the tombs.*

There are not many politician-poets, are there? Apart from Hilaire Belloc, I can't think of another one. Perhaps the two professions are not compatible, with poets seeking truth and politicians being chiefly involved in deception. As Belloc himself wrote:

Epitaph on a Politician

*Here William lies, in truth; before he died
For forty mortal years in truth he lied!*

Most of us, if we look back to our early life, would find - as Lincoln did - both sadness and pleasure are there.

The Past

*When I was young
I thought that to forget all sorrow, pain and grief
I needed to discard all the things that reminded me of the past and go forward.*

*Now I know we do not forget so easily and wish I had the things I tossed away.
Because the pain softens with time and things become more precious with time.*

*Now I wish I had an attic full of my past to pass the time
on rainy afternoons.*

FOLLOWING an explosive warm up set for world famous Hayseed Dixie in March, Stompin' Dave Allen will be playing with his full Electric Band in Friday, May 14th.

The audience at Hayseed Dixie had travelled from far and wide and most were unfamiliar with Dave's unique performance style. Within minutes, Stompin' Dave had everyone dancing and hollering for more!

Gabby Hitchin of the Electric Palace said "Stompin' Dave Allen's performance was absolutely terrific, he really was the perfect choice to get the crowd warmed up for Hayseed Dixie."

It's great to have famous acts appearing at the Palace, but it's also important to recognise the local talent that we have. Dave has been very active the past 10 years, performing at Glastonbury Festival, The Great Dorset Steam Fair, Tolpuddle Martyrs Festival, Southsea Folk & Roots Festival, and Wessex Folk Festival to name but a few. Dave gave over 200 performances in 2009 and is set to do the same again this year!

Stompin' Dave Allen performs American roots music on guitar, five-string banjo, fiddle, piano, harmonica, vocals and tap dancing. He is also due to compete in The American National Bluegrass Banjo and Guitar contests in Kansas again this year.

Accompanying Dave in his band is the vastly experienced Graham V. Bundy on drums. Bundy has worked as a professional drummer for 20 years, performing with rockabilly luminaries such as Nashville Star's Jody Evans, and Dave Saunders is on bass, and is a founder member of award winning blues band The Producers.

Tickets are £5 in advance and £6 on the door and are on sale now from Bridport Tourist Information Centre on 01308 424901 and Bridport Music on 01308 425707.

Po to play the Palace

PO' GIRL have become one of the most successful bands ever to emerge from Canada, weaving a blend of musical influences, sweetness, grit and soul. These urban minstrels pen harmony drenched melodies you'll find yourself humming, wowing audiences across the globe with their powerful, passionate and spirited live show.

The group was formed after the release of the first two Be Good Tanyas albums, when Trish Klein (of the Be Good Tanyas) collaborated with Allison Russell. They released their self-titled debut album in 2003 to rave reviews. Now, after honing their sound in 13 countries over the last 24 months, the ladies have released their fifth album 'Deer in the Night' as a true testament to their bond and to their tremendous growth as writers.

Po' Girl may be a quartet, but in any given concert you're likely to hear them playing a dozen instruments. "Different songs call for different instruments," said Allison Russell, Po' Girl's lead vocalist who sings with a hypnotic vibrato. "I write songs on guitar, piano, banjo and clarinet." The band showcases melodies from instruments as diverse as banjo, clarinet, harmonica, dobro, accordion and gutbucket bass.

Po' Girl's sound has echoes of speakeasy jazz, the western lament and the accordion-strapped ghosts of European folk, all delivered with a soulful clarity and depth and has been compared with that of The Band, Hazel Dickens, Tracy Chapman, Natalie Merchant, Elizabeth Cotton and Norah Jones.

As part of their UK album launch tour, Po' Girl will be performing an intimate concert at the Electric Palace, Bridport on Saturday 22nd May. It's a real treat to have the opportunity to see such a famous and talented band perform in such an intimate venue. Tickets are on sale now for £10 / £9 for members from The Electric Palace and Bridport Music Centre.

Po' Girl will be supporting their fifth album 'Deer in the Night'

Nice guys finish last, but not Mr Nice

HOWARD Marks, author of the international best seller 'Mr Nice', brings his live show to the Electric Palace. Marks became famous for his worldwide smuggling network (set up with friends and fellow students of Oxford university), which was allegedly responsible for most of the marijuana smoked in the western world during the 70s and 80s. Marks also worked as a teacher, and as an MI6 agent.

An Audience with Howard Marks will feature incredible stories from his days as one of the world's most wanted men, an agent for MI6, his 43 aliases, major cannabis deals direct with the American CIA and his 25 companies world-wide from his international smuggling empire days. Howard's live show, followed by a question and answers session has become a legendary insight into the infamous world of the controversial 'Mr Nice'.

Once noted as one of 'the most sophisticated drugs baron of all time' (Daily Mirror) Howard now writes for the Observer, The Times and Time Out where he is respected as an intellectual expert on the pro's and con's on the legalisation of Cannabis.

The show will also act as a preview of the big-screen biopic, 'Mr Nice', starring Rhys Ifans and Chloe Sevigny, which is due out later this year.

Howard Marks will be at the Electric Palace on Tuesday, May 18th. Doors open at 7.30pm, and tickets for event are £15, available from the Bridport Tourist Information Centre, or by calling the box office on 01308 424901

Is Lord Sugar going soft?

LORD Alan Sugar says he won't be quite as harsh on the contestants in Junior Apprentice.

The teen version of the business show puts 16 and 17-year-olds in the firing line as they compete to win £25,000.

Lord Alan revealed that he will be more like a headmaster who the candidates will "love to hate", adding: "Obviously I spoke to these teenagers in a different manner. I realise these kids have to go back to school and I don't want anyone to take the mickey out of them."

"The knack of talking to youngsters is not to be too condescending but also to have a firmness about what you're saying. But at the same time recognising that you shouldn't kind of vilify them individually."

The 10 finalists have been whittled down from 28,000 applicants and include a teenage online camping and fishing entrepreneur. Junior Apprentice begins on Wednesday, May 12th on BBC1.

CHRISTOPHER Eccleston may be starring in the upcoming BBC Four drama Lennon Naked, but he says he's not a Beatles fan.

"John Lennon is not a hero of mine. But I love him because he is so deeply flawed as a human being and he left so much for us," said the actor. As for recreating that famous naked photo with Yoko Ono, he added: "You think, 'Well, he did it'. So you do it. I just held my stomach in."

COME AND MEET THE FAMILY

One of the most exciting and inventive theatre companies to have emerged from the South West in recent years, Rogue Theatre have triumphed, delighted and amazed audiences with Pathway to the Red Sun and Madame Lucinda's Wonder Show and now are set to enchant with their latest creation.

Introducing Rogue Theatre's newest creation The Thieves; a theatre band which combines the passion and euphoria of gypsy music and the melancholy and nostalgia of tango with cabaret, bump and grind, jazz and blues.

There will also be poetry and text by Anna Maria Murphy, live music, pathos, physical performance and a feast of entertainment.

Russell Crowe in
Robin Hood remake

ACADEMY Award winning actor, Russell Crowe, best known for his role in "Gladiator", will reinvent the legendary Robin Hood in today's big release.

Based in 12th Century England, Sir Robin Longstride – known as Robin Hood – returns to his northern village after fighting in the Third Crusade, only to discover his villagers suffering the oppression caused by the new Sheriff of Nottingham, played by Matthew Macfadyen ("Pride and Prejudice").

With the help of his Merry Men, Robin – famous for stealing from the rich to help the poor – rescues him home village from tyranny and corruption, whilst also attempting to win over the recently widowed Lady Marian, played by multi award winning actress Cate Blanchett.

The film has been described as a "more thoughtful" version of the well-known story, still with plenty of action, and Crowe's portrayal of Robin Hood "grittier, realistic and believable".

Having loved the character since childhood, Crowe took the role despite rumours that he was unhappy with the script. He spent 10 months reading books about the legend in preparation.

This is the fifth time Crowe has worked with Ridley Scott and movie fans have set themselves high expectations, hoping this could be the next "Gladiator".

"Robin Hood" (12A), directed by Ridley Scott, will be released at the Cannes Film Festival today (Wednesday).

THIS summer is set to be a hit with movie fans, with several anticipated sequels coming to the big screen.

"Sex and the City 2", "Shrek Forever After" in 3D, "The Eclipse" – third in the popular "Twilight" saga – and "Toy Story 3" in 3D are just some of the big releases expected over the next few months.

Keep reading my weekly film column for details on new releases.

Venice Beach fashion model to give colour make over at South Chard Church

LORRAINE Poulton, ex-model from Venice Beach (where Baywatch was filmed!), colour consultant, makeup artist and life coach is set to give a make over and colour analysis (as in colour-me-beautiful!) at South Chard Church's 3rd annual Woman's Conference: 21st Century Women.

The theme for this year's conference is 'Smile' and alongside Lorraine, Jenny Reid, co-pastor of South Chard

Church and Yvonne Brooks, the Founder and Director of Women of Purpose Ministries, will also be speaking.

Jenny Reid from South Chard Church said, 'In today's society the stresses and busyness of everyday life can often cause women to have low moods and even depression. Our conference this year is called Smile. Smile because God is thinking about you, smile because he has some great things in store for you, and smile because when women get together, they can't help but make each other laugh!'

The event is on Saturday, May 22nd 2010, 9.30am - 5pm. The cost is £12, which includes a 2 course lunch and refreshments throughout the day.

Not rotten in the slightest!

ReView | Die Roten Punkte, Marine Theatre
Thursday, May 6th

What do you get if you cross The White Stripes, Kraftwerk, early New York punk and Spinal Tap? That's easy: Otto and Astrid Roten, aka Die Roten Punkte.

As the band came onto the stage, with a slightly askew resemblance of the aforementioned White Stripes, it seemed the fifty or so audience members in attendance were unsure quite what to make at first. But after a false start sound check, it was clear to all that the band were ready to rock "the greatest city in England, Lyme Regis", whilst having us roll around on the floor laughing.

The performance was high energy, with both performers both physically very entertaining, particularly Otto, who has the frontman pouting and strutting down to a tee.

The songs, whilst all parodies of their respective genres, were so well played, and well written, that they could have been genuine hits.

The gags were freeflowing throughout the night too; the duo's (intentionally) broken use of the English language made for many laugh-out-loud innuendo's, and the band's banter with the audience, and with their lighting technician, also made for a laugh. The audience were a key part to the show, and although not great in numbers, the Marine Theatre crowd were willing to take part in the sing-a-longs organised by the two band members, quite often in competition with each other.

Certain themes repeated throughout the show, including Otto's love, and fear, of lions - as demonstrated on the song Ich Bin Nicht Ein Roboter (I Am A Lion), a genuinely catchy electro-pop tune. There was also the questionable relationship between brother and sister (another nod to the White Stripes), and Astrid's troubles with drink and drugs.

Their set list included some of their 'hits' Rock and Roll Monster, 4:13 to Spandau, and encore 'Rock Bang' complete with join-in hand gestures.

Before going into the show, I had no idea what to expect, but if I'd had expectations, Die Roten Punkte would surely have surpassed them. The show had great songs, a simple and effective visual appeal and humour stretching from straight-forward one liners, innuendo and parodical in-jokes. I'm just hoping these guys can return to Lyme, so we can all get ready to 'Rock Bang' again!

Škoda Superb triumphs at Diesel car awards

- Škoda Superb takes Best Large Car for second year running
- New Superb Estate takes the crown for Best Estate Car
- Yeti is announced as runner-up in new category; Best Crossover Car

THE Škoda Superb has been named in the Diesel Car magazine's annual Car of the Year awards 2010, taking the top spot in two categories.

The Superb outshone the competition for the second year running in the Best Large Car category, whilst the new Superb Estate was named Best Estate Car winning over stiff competition from a number of other brands.

The Yeti was also recognised in the awards, earning the runners up spot in one of the new categories; best Crossover Car. Since its launch in September 2009 the Yeti has proved to be a runaway success, winning the Top Gear magazine 'Family Car of the Year' award and being shortlisted for European Car of the Year in 2010.

In recognition of the Superb's impressive design and value for money, the Diesel Car awards will join the array of other accolades that the Superb has picked up to date including the Top Gear Luxury Car of the Year Award in 2010.

Well deserving of the top spot in the Best Estate Car, the new Superb Estate was launched at the start of the year and is the largest and most luxurious car to ever wear the Škoda badge. Originally designed in the 1930s with luxury and elegance in mind, today's Superb range builds on these strengths, with more rear legroom than many prestige cars on the market and some ingenious technological advances such as AFS (adaptive front light system), touch screen technology and park assist.

An acknowledgment of the high standard and quality of the Škoda Superb, the Diesel Car Awards demonstrate that the luxury, striking design and value for money that the Superb offers is certainly a winning combination.

Škoda auto unveils new greenline Fabia and roomster models

FOLLOWING-on from the launch of the face-lifted Fabia and Roomster, Škoda Auto has unveiled the Fabia Estate GreenLine II and Roomster GreenLine II – the first of its second generation of environmentally-friendly GreenLine models.

The new model Fabia and Roomster's have been facelifted and fitted with new technology designed to further reduce fuel consumption and CO2 emission levels. The most important innovations include a new engine (1.2 TDI CR DPF/75bhp DPF) with Common Rail (high-pressure direct injection), start-stop technology, energy recuperation and gear recommendation (on a Maxi DOT display).

One of the biggest technological changes in the second-generation GreenLine version is a new three-cylinder turbobcharged engine (1.2 TDI CR DPF/55 kW) with a consumption of just 83.1 mpg and CO2 emissions of 89 g/km for the Fabia Estate GreenLine II, and 67.3 and 109 g/km for the Roomster GreenLine II.

In addition to lower CO2 emissions, other contaminant levels have also been reduced. The new engine complies with the EU 5 emission standard that, for diesel engines, has stricter regulations for nitrogen oxides and solid particles. The gear ratios of the car's five-speed transmission are identical to those of the ordinary Fabia and Roomster models fitted with the same engine. As a result, the GreenLine II offers the same responsiveness yet with lower consumption.

The key benefits of the stop-start system stand out in busy city traffic. The system operates automatically, directly after the engine starts. If, after some time, the driver stops the vehicle, engages neutral and releases the clutch pedal, the engine switches off automatically. As soon as the driver presses the clutch, the engine starts again immediately. Stop-start makes it possible to save up to 4.2mpg (combined) or up to 7.7 mpg in city traffic.

Energy recuperation is another state-of-the-art technology introduced on the new Fabia Estate GreenLine II and Roomster GreenLine II. Effective utilisation of the vehicle's kinetic energy for battery recharging is a simple system that helps to save fuel continuously. The two systems – Stop-Start and braking energy recovery work in partnership and, along with other measures, help to make the operation of these new models as environmentally-friendly as possible. The application of the energy recovery system has helped to reduce the CO2 emissions by 2 - 4 g/km.

Other technologies Škoda is introducing on the GreenLine II models to improve economy are the gear recommendation system, which helps the driver make optimum use of the engine's potential, a lowered and aerodynamically-covered chassis and, last but not least, low rolling resistance tyres.

Fleet demand for Mazda3 in the fast lane

FLEET demand for Mazda3 is soaring with the fuel-saving CO2 emission-friendly 1.6 109ps diesel leading the way.

The 119g/km CO2 model - and specifically the TS2 trim level derivative which costs £17,355 on-the-road - has contributed to total fleet registrations of Mazda3 almost doubling to 849 units in March (462 registrations in March 2009).

In the crucial core end-user fleet segment, which focuses on sales to contract hire and leasing companies and leases taken out by Mazda Contract Hire customers, Mazda3 registrations last month accelerated almost threefold to 179 units from 62 in March 2009.

In the first quarter of 2010 Mazda3 fleet registrations totalled 1,097 with daily rental and Motability volumes hardly figuring. That compares with Q1 2009 when Mazda3 fleet registrations totalled 988, which included in January last year alone 320 Motability units.

"We are winning significant conquest business with Mazda3 as company car drivers switch from other brands," said Peter Allibon, fleet and remarketing director for Mazda UK.

"The marketing campaign that we have in place continues to build momentum with many fleets now looking at Mazda for the first time.

"Having a sub 120g/km car in the range delivering low benefit-in-kind tax bills and first class fuel economy (62.8 mpg on the combined cycle) has been crucial to building Mazda3 demand."

In addition, an 'edgy' design, according to Allibon, and high-level specification when compared with many rival low medium sector models has further boosted demand across the Mazda3 range.

"Our focus through marketing and model demonstration activity has been to build awareness of Mazda3 and ensure the model is front of mind of both fleet decision-makers and company car drivers," explained Allibon.

"Mazda3 sales to-date underlines the success of that strategy as when fleet chiefs and drivers research the car it is one of the forerunners in terms of their decision-making. Driving the car then makes the final decision for them - our sales success is product-led and not price driven."

The current 20-model Mazda3 saloon and hatchback line-up, which was launched in May last year, costs from £13,930 on-the-road for the 1.6 S and comprises a choice of three petrol engines, three diesel engines and five equipment levels.

Standard equipment on the Mazda3 includes: Dynamic Stability Control, Traction Control System, six airbags, remote central locking, manual air-conditioning, welcome mode lighting and an MP3 compatible audio system with four speakers.

Direct competitors to the Mazda3 include the Honda Civic, Renault Megane, Vauxhall Astra and Volkswagen Golf.

PERRY STREET LEAGUE

WITH HOWARD LARCOMBE

SEASIDERS REQUIRE ONE WIN
LATE RUN SEES WHITE HORSE SURVIVETuesday, May 4th
PREMIER

BEAMINSTER bagged three points with a nervy 3-2 win at Merriott Rovers. The game was notable for Beaminster being awarded three penalties by referee Tim Pike.

Murray Legg tucked away the first spot-kick to put the Rainbows ahead. But Merriott stormed back and led 2-1 at the break through Nathan Davenport and Barry Hayne. Legg had an opportunity with his second penalty but had his shot saved. The visitors did however keep their extremely slim title hopes alive when Dave Penn leveled and Tristan Gale netted from the now well-worn 12-yard spot.

DIVISION ONE

PYMORE suffered their biggest home defeat since they were mauled 13-2 by Combe Reserves four years ago as they went down 8-0 at the hands of Farway United.

Wednesday, May 5th
DAISY HUTCHINGS CUP
Quarter-Final

GOALS from Ashley Rose (2) and Callum Gundry carried Norton to a 3-0 victory over Beaminster Reserves and lined-up a semi-final encounter with West & Middle Chinnock.

PREMIER

DIVISION TWO

UPLYME's topsy-turvy season ended with a whimper as they were thrashed 6-0 by Champions Millway Rise.

Things looked good for the Swallows early on but James Beddows missed in front of an empty net and Mark Fowkes struck the woodwork and Millway moved up through the gears to cruise home. Mark Vaughan, Marc Jenkins, Ashley Phillips, John Vaughan, Matt Hall and Danny Larcombe cashing in on some decidedly low-par defending as Uplyme recorded their biggest home defeat since the 8-1 hammering by White Horse some 4½ years ago.

PREMIER

WITH the title race now down to two, Beaminster maintained their hopes of a second placed finish with a 5-1 win over visiting Combe Reserves.

The Saints led at the break through Max Westlake but the second-half was a different story as the hosts cruised to victory with goals from Murray Legg (2), Tom Hounsell, Adam Gale and Greg Channing.

In the other morning kick-off South Petherton also recovered from going behind to a Lee Quincey goal to beat plucky White Horse 3-1. Jon Hayter leveled on the stroke of half-time. Substitute Mike Gillyat put Pethly ahead in the 65th minute with his first touch before Hayter missed a penalty after Paul Holt had been felled.

The result was sealed near the end when Gillyat crossed for Hayter to notch number 18 for the season. Despite the defeat Horse' fine end of season run in leaves popular outgoing manager Ian Pincombe with his team still in the top division.

The result at South Petherton meant Crewkerne took to the field at the Davey Fort knowing they would have to beat Lyme Regis 6-0 to maintain their Premier Division status!

The Tigers were never going to do that but they did frustrate Lyme for long periods with Mark Smith in fine form at the back. The opener arrived in the 41st minute when Adam Caddy crossed for Joe Bond to slot home his 21st of the campaign.

That's how it stayed until the 70th minute when a well-worked free-kick move teed up defender Mark Batey for his first of the season. The Seaside's, unbeaten in 24 games, county cup aside, were far from their best in a disjointed performance but are now just one win from their fifth Premier Division Championship.

A 2-0 defeat by Misterton leaves troubled Merriott Rovers without a win in six and stumbling towards the finishing line.

Continued problems off the pitch means the question remains - will we see a Merriott team take their place on the opening day of the PSL next season?

The derby game at the Rec was a one-sided affair with Barrington clinching fourth spot by crushing weary Ilminster Reserves 6-0.

DIVISION ONE

THE relegation battle at Jocelyn Park has left Pymore staring at a return to Division Two.

Hosts Chard Rangers could still beat the drop thanks to goals from Ben Chubb Darren Murphy and Kev Bird in a 3-1 victory. Mike Scriven netted for Pymore.

Injury-hit Netherbury were soundly beaten by visiting Forton Rangers who remain second after a 4-1 win. It was 4-0 at the turnaround with Matt Brown (2), Lee Richardson and Alan Mansell on target. The second-half was much closer with Mark Cuff bagging his 11th of the season for the consolation.

Stuttering West & Middle Chinnock's poor League form continued. A 6-4 home defeat by strongly finishing Farway United means the Chinnocks have taken just four points from a possible 15 - hardly promotion form.

Things looked good for Nick Eckland's side as they led 2-0 through Aaron Langdon and an own goal. But Tom Albano pulled one back before the interval.

Further strikes from Ashley Lock and Ian Masters saw the hosts' head for the tape 4-3 up. But the Devonians upped a gear and surged home with second-half goals from James Salter, Simon Lane, Dan Dare and Dan Williams who took his tally to 12 with a brace.

DIVISION TWO

CHAMPIONS Millway Rise' hope of an unbeaten League season looked under severe threat as visiting Norton Athletic led 2-0 with half and hour on the clock. A tactical switch back to the tried and tested 4-4-2 saw Rise gain a foothold as Bryan Perryman reduce the area.

Player-manager Shane Featherstone equalised two minutes after the restart and when Danny Larcombe scored his sixth in as many games a win looked on the cards. But a last minute leveler gave the Norts a point.

DIVISION THREE

DESPITE going down to a 6-3 defeat at Crewkerne Rangers Hawkchurch have been crowned Division Three Champions for the first time in their history.

Rangers flew out of the blocks. The lead was 4-0 before Dan Turner pulled one back. But the hosts maintained their Division Two aspirations two further strikes.

Tim Hussey took his personal tally 30 with one of the Hawks' late consolation whilst Pat Chapman, up from the Reserves, netted the other.

Lyme Regis Bantams collected their third win in a week with an impressive 3-0 triumph over Combe A.

Ben Strong's 11th of the season, a fine 20-yarder, gave the Seaside's an interval lead. Polish midfielder Patryk Skibinski doubled the lead on the hour before Rob Mackenzie made the points safe with an exquisite chip from 25-yards.

BOB BUCKLER RACING

Ethiopia back to best for Buckler

BOB Buckler's theory that technology is not an exact science was proved at Plumpton on Sunday when Ethiopia scooted up to win the Vi Nichol 90th Birthday Novices' Handicap Chase in convincing fashion writes Stuart Bloom.

"It just goes to prove how little we know!" he quipped.

Buckler thought the seven-year-old was a certainty at Southwell in his last race having won previously at Plumpton. However he ran badly for no apparent reason; a blood test confirming there was no infection which baffled the Henley trainer.

"It would appear that horses like humans can have off days. He ran very well, particularly as this was his first race over fences. He was fast and very neat over the jumps and won quite easily."

Nathan Sweeney went to the front from the off and with Plane Painter they took the field around a fair pace. They took the lead at the top of the hill on the run down to the turn into the straight when the 3/1 favourite made a mistake and although Paul Nicholls' Oamuru Stone came to challenge he held him off comfortably by 1 3/4 lengths.

He is due to run again at Fontwell tonight over fences although he will carry top weight as a result of penalties for his win, or alternatively Buckler has entered him in a hurdle race at Stratford on Saturday.

Ethiopia's win is the first of the new season for Buckler which began on April 25th.

Over The Flow had unseated Sweeney in her first race over fences at Hereford when she half stopped having met the first at too fast a pace, tried again at Worcester last Thursday.

Although she coped well with the fences and ran much better they missed the break in the middle of the race and got left, although she quickened again and stayed on at the finish. "It was a much better performance and she will improve with the experience."

Mrs Overall having her first race in four months found the 2 mile 3 furlong race too short for her, and although she stayed on she needs three miles.

"She really needs longer and was a bit one paced and couldn't accelerate when the quickened," said Buckler.

Both the horses making their debuts gave encouraging displays; Seaview Lad finishing seventh at Newton Abbot and Ellie Wiggins also finishing seventh at Worcester.

"Seaview Lad ran OK. The problem is that both are big babies and fairly weak. Because he isn't strong enough, the race was too short for him as he wasn't quick enough, and at the moment he doesn't have the stamina to run three miles. However it was a good education for him, and we might give him one more run before turning him out for the summer."

Ellie Wiggins was slightly more impressive but again the object was to help them adapt to running on a racecourse as part of their education, and she will now be turned out for the summer."

The normally reliable River Indus who ran poorly last time out at Cheltenham probably runs for the last time tonight at Exeter before his summer holidays.

WEYMOUTH SPEEDWAY

Islanders put to sword by Wildcats

National League KO Cup 2nd Leg

Weymouth 58 Isle of Wight 36 (Agg: Weymouth 97 Isle of Wight 87)

WEYMOUTH Weyline Wildcats stormed to a great victory against the Isle of Wight on Friday and now face home and away fixtures against the Newport Hornets in the 2nd round of the KO Cup. The Wildcats wiped out the 12 point deficit inflicted from Tuesday's 1st leg with their best team performance of the season at the Wessex FM Raceway.

The meeting started with inform Byron Bekker and Terry Day scorching to 5-1 heat advantage setting the tone for the rest of the evening. Before the meeting and his three heat wins and 13 points return Bekker said: "The team are starting to get it together; it showed on the Isle of Wight where we held it together until the last two heats. We had a bit of bad luck on the Island and it's just speedway. I think we've got good chances of pulling it back tonight though."

All the Wildcats weighed in with big points returns apart from out of form reserve Nick Lee. Day provided solid back up with two heat wins on his way to 10+3 points which included a fall in the final race of the evening. After wrecking a bike and blowing his best engine in the last heat last Tuesday, James Cockle dropped only one point to an opponent with a 15+1 return riding an engine that he dislikes!

Both sides operated the rider replacement facility, the Wildcats cover for Tom Brown and the Islanders for Dean Felton. Just two heat advantages and four race wins showed how much the Islanders struggled with below par returns and a number of falls hampering their progress.

Wildcats reserve Richard Andrews won heat two on his way to an impressive 10+1 score. Asked how he felt after the meeting Andrews said: "We got the set up, it felt good and I went out there and made some good starts. I just want to go to Newport and prove my point as I used to ride for them, and show them what I'm made of."

Gary Cottham had a painful tumble on the exit of the last corner in heat 12 but jumped to his feet to agonisingly push over the line to grab two points after the Islanders riders had both crashed out in separate incidents in earlier attempted runnings of the heat. Rikki Mullins sliding off in the first running, and ex-Wildcat Danny Warwick demolishing a kickboard entering into the home straight and ending up going under the safety fence at the second attempt!

The Weyline Wildcats take a break from National League duties next Friday (14th) with the visit of the Somerset 'Giants' in a challenge fixture at the normal start time of 7.15pm before travelling to Norfolk to take on King's Lynn 'Young Stars' on Sunday, May 16th

SEASIDERS RUN RIOT IN FINAL

Arthur Gage Cup Final - Friday, May 7th at Axminster Town FC

LYME REGIS RESERVES 4 PERRY STREET RES 0

LYME Regis Reserves dominated proceedings at Axminster Town's Sector Lane on Friday evening.

The final 4-0 score line could have been much greater such as the Seaside's complete control of the 60th Arthur Gage Cup Final.

An early Ally Rattenbury corner skidded off the Perry Street crossbar but it wasn't long before the opener arrived. Jason Hawker broke through the inside right channel and drilled in a cross shot which deflected into the net off a defender.

On the half-hour Fred Thomson seemed certain to score, but with the goal gaping, defender Rich Rowson stepped in and the ball flashed wide.

Five minutes later Hawker broke clear but struck the foot of the post.

He second-half continued in much the same vein. Hawker squandered another chance when his one-on-one opportunity was well saved by keeper Mike Govier.

With the large Lyme contingent amongst the crowd of 150 growing concerned at the slender 1-0 lead and the amount of squandered chances, Gerard Hitchcock, overseeing his first final as a manager, introduced the first of his three allotted substitutes - all of who had an impact in opening the floodgates.

In the 53rd minute Rob Larcombe came on at right-back with experienced Tim Edwards moving out of the impressive back four to replace limping midfielder Danny Thirlwell.

And within minutes Larcombe made the first of several marauding surges down the right flank before unleashing a dipping 25-yard shot that cannoned back off Govier's bar only for Thomson to nod into the empty net.

With the outcome of the game now in no doubt two more substitutes were summoned from the bench - and both scored. Ryan Fifer, on for the hard-working Aaron Cleal, side-footed home with just his second touch in the 83rd minute and Rory Holmes put the icing on the cake with the pick of the goals, a crisp low 20-yarder two minutes from time.

This was a superb all-round squad performance from the Seaside's with holding midfielder Luke Clifton just beating off the claims of Cleal and skipper Stuart King for the Man-of-the-Match award.

Referee: Shaun Annetts.

MUNRO TAKES THIRD ROUND ROCK THE 10K

Royal Manor of Portland Athletics Club

SIMON Munro won the recent 3rd annual 'Round the Rock' 10k race in almost ideal conditions beating Tony White from host club Royal Manor of Portland Athletics Club (RMPAC) by ten seconds.

The Bournemouth Athletics Club member completed the course run around Portland in 36 minutes 41 seconds. John Shapland of SW Vets was third.

Despite a wet start, the conditions, cool and dry with a good covering of cloud, were almost ideal except for a moderate wind blowing from Portland Heights Hotel to Avalanche Road.

The event sponsored by Quay Healthcare and Albion Stone attracted well over one hundred entrants from as far afield as Swindon and Cheltenham and started at Grove.

The competitors ran through Easton, Wakeham, Southwell and finally Weston before finishing at the Blues Club.

Ali Young was the first woman home in a time of 40 minutes 36 seconds over two minutes ahead of runner-up Polly Adams of RMPAC.

There was also a 2k fun run for the younger runners with Khai Locke the first boy home and Caprice Locke the first girl to finish.

The presentation of awards were made by Mike Tizard of Albion Stone and RMPAC President Councillor Les Ames.

The club would like to thank all the organisers for what was a very successful day and look forward to their next race, the Portland 10 on Sunday, July 4th.

Royal Manor of Portland Athletics Club was founded in 1983 and caters for all ages and abilities. The club is affiliated with UK Athletics and has in excess of 80 members who meet up to three times per week. For further details visit www.rmpac.co.uk or call 01305 820666.

LYME REGIS GOLF CLUB

With Steve Percival.

Bader Cup

MAY Bank holiday Monday was the date set for the eliminator round to select the pair to represent the club in the national mixed pairs stableford competition organised by the Douglas Bader foundation.

With the possibility of a place in the finals to be played in in Portugal in September on offer, competition was fierce and scores were more than respectable.

At the end of the day Julian Cox and Linda Baker achieved first place with an excellent 39 points to narrowly beat Howard and Geraldine Wickes into second place and win through to the regional finals at Stover Golf Club on 19 August.

Rover Cup Stableford competition

DESPITE the chilling Northerly wind on Sunday, May 9th, scores were much improved from those recorded during previous rounds on the course and the results show some very impressive scores in both divisions of the competition.

In Division One Malcolm Wilson, with no fewer than nine pars and two birdies and a score of 42 points, narrowly defeated Kieren Borgeat into second place on countback. In third place with a very creditable 39 points was Joshua Harrison.

Division Two saw a previous captain of the club, John Owen, playing off 18, score a very impressive 40 points to beat John Perryman into second place on countback. In third place with 38 points was Graham (Doc) Paterson.

Seniors Monthly Stableford competition

MONDAY, May 10th saw an excellent turn out of 69 competitors for the Seniors May monthly medal competition.

For the early starters the brisk and biting North Easterly wind proved a little daunting at first but, as the fairways and greens are currently in excellent condition for the time of year, the winning scores were more than respectable.

Division One was a very close contest with three participants each scoring 38 points.

In the inevitable countback it was David Hadwin, playing off 18 who achieved first place over John Coley (7) and the "ever steady" Ted Baker playing off 15. Division two saw a clearer winner in the shape of former club captain Tony Johnstone (18) with 38 points beat Colin Conn (28) with 36 points who edged out Richard Cridge (27) on countback to achieve second place.

Team Results:

With the better weather and the lifting of "winter rules," Summer inter club competitions are now in full swing.

Whilst mixed fortunes are an inevitable result of competitive golf, the Lyme teams have fared well, of late.

In particular the team competing in the Knighton Heath over 60s knockout competition needed Adrian Wells, Captain for the day, to sink a birdie putt on the final hole of his round to clinch victory by 51/2 to 41/2 against their opponents from Isle Of Purbeck.

Meanwhile, in the Dorset League competition for players with handicaps between 11 and 18, with four of the matches going the full distance to the 18th hole, the Hardy B team scored an emphatic win by 31/2 to 11/2 against Sturminster Marshall. The Hardy A team meanwhile suffered a relatively narrow defeat by 41/2 to 21/2 against Sherborne.

Lyme Ladies by Ellie Langford

May Medal and

Golf Foundation Brooch

AFTER a wet start the rain stopped and good golf was enjoyed by all with some excellent rounds leading to several handicap reductions.

Jane Southcombe won the Golf Foundation Brooch with a nett score of 67 after birdies on the 2nd, 5th, 9th and 10th holes cutting her handicap from eight to seven.

Other handicap reductions were Brenda Brown 27 to 26, Glenys Phillips 27 to 26, Elizabeth Thompson 19 to 18, Angela Clark 26 to 25, Jean Forbes-Harris 29 to 28.

Results of the Medal:

Division One: 1 Jane Southcombe 67; 2 Elizabeth Thompson 71; 3 Francis Sell 72; Division Two: 1 Brenda Brown 71; 2 Angela Clark 72; 3 Margaret Slater 73; Division 3: Jean Forbes-Harris 71; Hanna Jacobsen 75; Deirdre Potter 75.

Lyme Regis won their 4th round match in the Mail on Sunday competition, beating Minehead 4-1.

Streamlining at WPNSA

THE Weymouth and Portland National Sailing Academy (WPNSA) has announced that it will be streamlining the organisation ahead of the 2012 Olympic sailing events which will attract the world's top sailors to the South West of the UK.

The new structure at the venue that is shortlisted for the 2010 Sport Industry Award 'Sport Venue of the Year' will see the merging of the onsite commercial company 'Sail Force Ltd' with the not-for-profit Weymouth and Portland National Sailing Academy.

John Tweed, Chief Executive of the Weymouth and Portland National Sailing Academy explained: "When the WPNSA was first established, it was set up as a not-for-profit organisation in order to apply for essential grants from the Sports Lottery Fund, the South West Regional Development Agency, local authorities, charitable trusts and other associated benefactors."

The academy then appointed a commercial company 'Sail Force Ltd' to undertake the majority of the venue's operational activities. Sail Force, a family business owned and managed by Phil and Sandra Gollop, brought commercial acumen as well as detailed knowledge and experience of running high elite level competitive events from their previous business at the nearby Weymouth Sailing Centre. This original structure worked effectively to date and the decision to merge the two organisations was made earlier this year in order to streamline onsite management.

The venue for the sailing competition at the London 2012 Olympic Games and Paralympic Games will continue to be a not-for-profit organisation with a clear new management structure moving forward to the Games period and through into the future legacy years. Sail Force will now be re-branded as 'WPNSA Ltd' with the well known Gollop's continuing to work hand in hand with their team at the academy.

Edward Leask, Chairman of the Weymouth and Portland National Sailing Academy commented: "We have a very exciting and challenging time ahead of us. We wanted to make sure we had the right organisational structure in place to meet these growing challenges through a clear, responsive and agile organisation that could only be produced through this streamlining. Our future outlook is now very much orientated around our not-for-profit status however, we still need to operate in a financially prudent and sustainable manner to ensure we generate sufficient income to ensure financial stability for the venue and a strong future."

Title hopes still alive

Weymouth & District Table Tennis League

DESPITE a good win away to St Osmonds Hawks, Shipton Gorge B failed by just one point to catch first placed Pilgrims and must now wait to see if St Osmonds Sharks overtake them for second place.

The A team still have high hopes of the first division championship after a convincing win over fifth placed All Saints Weymouth.

Shipton Gorge A 26 All Saints 9

ALTHOUGH Paul Carter put up a spirited resistance for the visitors beating Chris Glover 3-2 from 0-2 down in the first match and later accounting for Gil Roberts 3-0 the all round strength of the home team eventually wore down the Saints.

Back from injury Richard Trim was in good form, beating Carter 3-0 and dropping just one set to Steve Rook in gaining his 9 point maximum.

Glover's narrow loss to Carter proved to be his only setback as he went on to comfortable 3-0 victories over Rook and Thompson. Roberts also went on to win 3-1 and 3-0 before Glover and Trim ended a fine night with a 3-1 doubles win over Carter and Rook.

St Osmonds Hawks 16 Shipton Gorge B 23

NEEDING 24 points to go level with Pilgrims at the top of the table, Gorge went agonizingly close. With Joe Boardman collecting a maximum 9 for the home team the task was difficult but John Moseley and Jim Saunders carved out 7 points each and Ron Tucknott a further 6 before Saunders and Moseley took the doubles 3-1.

WITH STUART BROOM & HOWARD LARCOMBE

MIXED WEEKEND FOR DEPELETED SIDES

Dorset County Cricket Club
Herefordshire 159 all out
lost to Dorset 160-8 by 2 wickets
DORSET'S bowling was the key to this victory over Herefordshire that enhances their chances of winning their group and progressing in the Minor Counties Trophy.

The two wicket win means they top Group 3 with five points with just one match to play; at home to Oxfordshire on May 23rd at Weymouth.

Only Hertfordshire, whose home fixture with Dorset was abandoned because of rain can catch the home county.

Chris Park won the toss at Eastnor and put the hosts into bat and FH Shahid and Wood (15) made a bright start before Matt Metcalfe had the latter caught by Nick Park with the score on 33.

Despite some excellent bowling from Rich Banham (1-25), Metcalfe (2-30) David Taylor (2-36) and Ed Denham (2-32) Herefordshire looked to be moving to a good total at 101-3 through Shahid (21), Adshead (22) and Burroughs (38).

However Taylor removed Atiq-ur-Rehman (10) and Denham had Exall caught behind with the next ball.

The introduction of Glyn Treagus once again proved vital as he removed the next three home batsmen in a spell of 3-18 off 7 overs, and Herefordshire were finally dismissed for 159 all out.

Dorset made a shaky start in reply losing both openers, Nick Park (1) and Treagus (9) with just 16 on the board, but a steady partnership between Aaron Williams (12) and David Taylor (29) restored parity.

However at 76-5 Dorset appeared to be struggling again before Josh Lawrence (24) and Chris Morgan steadied the ship with a partnership of 38, and it was Morgan with an undefeated 31 not out, including 5 fours and a six that saw Dorset home with 15 overs to spare.

Manager Sean Walbridge whilst pleased with the victory thought there was still areas of the game that his side could improve.

"We bowled very well again as a unit, with some excellent fielding and the catches by Rich Banham and Aaron Williams were superb. All the bowlers were economical and bowled well throughout, but Glyn Treagus was once again a revelation.

"We didn't bat as well as we did against Bedfordshire and one or two got out to shots they wouldn't be proud of, but the partnership between Josh Lawrence and Chris Morgan not only would have given both of them confidence being fairly young, but also shows that we bat well down the order.

"There are a few points to work on, but overall we have a well balanced side with plenty to offer with the ball, and bat well down the order."

EAST DEVON LEAGUE
Uplyme & Lyme Regis 1st v Ipplepen
THE arrival of several key players after they had successfully helped Lyme Regis football club to a vital league victory proved crucial as Uplyme & Lyme Regis 1st XI secured a winning draw from the visit of Ipplepen on Saturday.

In a tense finish all results were possible heading into the last over with the visitors needing 11 to win but with just two wickets remaining.

As it was, Uplyme's total of 200 for 9 proved just out reach as they closed on 196 for 8.

Earlier Rob Thom (27) and Jerry Sims (26) forged a fine 46-run partnership for the second wicket after the early loss of opener Sam Challis.

But a middle order wobble saw the hosts slump to 77 for 5 before the late arrival of the Batey brothers, Mark and Steve and the Caddy brothers, Adam and Ashley sparked a recovery.

A fine stand of 52 between the Caddy siblings (Adam 40, Ashley 34) and a useful unbeaten 21 from Steve Batey elevated the final total through the 200-barrier.

In reply Ipplepen were soon on the backfoot at 29 for 2 before recovering to 130 for 5. But fine spells from Adam Caddy (4 for 28) and Ben Strong (4 for 30) aided by four catches from gloveman Jedd Whittington ensured the finishing line was kept at arms length.

Uplyme & LR 15pts Ipplepen 10.

Ipplepen 2nds v Uplyme & Lyme Regis 2nds
THE early loss of experienced opening pair Eddie Clarke and Dave Norman set the tone for a difficult afternoon for Uplyme 2nds as they were soundly beaten by Ipplepen.

The hosts stumbled their way to 39 all out with extras top scoring with 17 in the face of some fine bowling by R.Hay (4 for 18) and K.Bell (3 for 7).

A wicket apiece for opening bowlers Jolly Bugg and Paul Crompton did at least ensure Uplyme collected a point from their travels as the Pens knocked up 40 for 2 in just 9.2 overs.

Wimborne & Colehill 193-6 tied with Weymouth 180-6 (reduced target)
WEYMOUTH just failed to grab a last ball victory in a rain reduced match when John Armfield and Matt Lawes could only run two off the final delivery.

Having restricted their hosts to 193-6 from 42 overs, Weymouth's target was then reduced further to 181 off 31 overs following more rain.

New Zealander Andrew Falloon made his debut for the Seasideers and took 2-40 with Lawes claiming three wickets when Wimborne & Colehill batted.

Skipper Paul Payne and Jim Ryall made a steady start to the innings but it was Armfield with an undefeated 64 that was the backbone of the reply, and his partnership with Lawes almost saw them to victory but Armfield slipped as he turned for the second and denying them a third for victory.

Division One
Sherborne 145 all out beat Beaminster 126 all out by 17 runs (reduced target)
BEAMINSTER travelled to Sherborne with a severely weakened team, and despite being complete underdogs were unlucky to fall 17 runs short of victory in a game they feel they could have won with a full team.

Having been skittled out for just 49 last week after being asked to bat first, skipper Ross Baker was glad to win the toss and decided to field in cold and damp conditions on a pitch that had been covered and was in surprisingly good condition.

R Baker and P Hancock coped well against the new ball and Paul Martin and Jack Guilor bowled four aggressive overs before rain stopped play for ten minutes. The first wicket deservedly fell to Martin who had Hancock caught behind by veteran fourth reserve wicketkeeper Noddy David.

Baker (58) then started to accelerate the scoring and played some lovely drives against Beaminster's seamers and deservedly reached his half century. However he was unable to get Martin away, who bowled unchanged to finish with impressive figures of 1-19 off his ten overs.

The game turned on its head following a double bowling change with debutant Andy Sherring and off spinner Mark Barber introduced into the attack.

They bowled beautifully, keeping it tight, and both were rewarded with figures of 3-26. Unable to cope with the guile and clever variations of Beaminster's new recruits, the Sherborne innings collapsed. Barber had Locke (17) caught behind with the score on 79 and when Sherring bowled Baker, wickets fell quickly. Good fielding also contributed as Sherborne were finally dismissed for 145 all out when Simon Jones (1-5) bowled the dogged M Hancock.

In reply Beaminster started badly with M Hancock dismissing David, who played on, and John Ridd for ducks with just seven on the board prompting a middle order collapse.

Resistance came from the excellent Dan Hillier (48) and an entertaining cameo from Baker (22) who quickly smashed 3 fours a huge six. When Hillier was joined by Martin (14), Beaminster seized control of the game and looked on course for an improbable victory.

However, Nurton (6-53) persevered to finish with six wickets including Hillier as Beaminster finished 17 runs short of a re-vived target.

Skipper Baker said: "Under the circumstances, I was proud of the team's performance but we realise that we missed an opportunity as our batting let us down once again."

Weymouth 2nd 145-6 beat Bournemouth 156 all out by 4 wickets (reduced target)
WEYMOUTH 2nd's looked to be in trouble in their match against one of the title favourites Bournemouth as they crashed to 9-3 in reply to a mediocre 156 all out at Redlands.

Michael Pearce (4-20) had paved the way for a potential victory with support from Graham Puckett, Will McKay and skipper John Ryan who took a brace apiece.

However with Kieron Womble, Andy Bray and Will McKay all back in the pavilion it was left to veteran Sean Fitzgerald to steady the ship with a dogged 26, but at 62-6 it looked as if all their good work in the field would be wasted.

However Pearce (37no) joined forces with brother Michael (33no) in an unbroken stand of 83 that saw the Seasideers to victory.

Division Two
Hamworthy Recreation 148-1 beat Dorchester 2nd 161 all out by 9 wks (reduced target)
After last week's exciting narrow victory, Dorchester 2nd's tasted defeat with a comprehensive nine wicket defeat by Hamworthy Recreation.

Division Three
Portland Red Triangle 154 all out lost to Bridport 156-6 by 4 wickets
BRIDPORT'S form in the first two games is such that new skipper Sam Good already sees promotion back to Division Two at the first attempt a distinct possibility.

After his sides four wicket win at Portland RT to remain undefeated he said: "We couldn't have started better with two victories. We have a very strong team this year and I definitely believe that promotion is a possibility based on what we have done so far. This week was another good all round performance and it augers well for the future."

Winning the toss, Good inserted the host and superb bowling on a notorious batting track saw Portland restricted to 154 all out.

Chris Backhouse took three wickets, and there was a brace apiece for Ashley Nicholls, Wes Lewis and Ashley Parker.

In addition the fielding was first class with Duane Gay's catch in the deep to dismiss Red Triangle's top scorer John Dixon the highlight.

In reply there were good solid performances from Mark Smith (27) and Gay (22), and a quickfire 20 from Dom Gape.

It was left to Backhouse (38no) and Lewis (20no) with an undefeated half century partnership to steer Bridport home to a convincing victory.

Cattistock v Martinstown No result – rain ground unfit

Division Four
Beaminster 2nd 117 all out lost to Poole 3rd 210-9 by 93 runs
BEAMINSTER Skipper Adam Herring won the toss and put Poole into bat.

Again it was a good bowling and fielding performance but the loose balls that were bowled were punished by Poole. Top performers with the ball were; Murray Legg returned figures of 45 off 12 overs, Stuart Lindsay 2 for 37 off 9 overs and Adam Herring 2 for 38 off 12 overs, including a superb caught and bowled as Poole were left rocking on 86 for 5.

The visitors eventually finished their 45 overs on 210 for 9, number 3 batsmen S Matthews hitting a superb unbeaten 110 with no other batsmen hitting over 15 runs.

Joe Singleton was unlucky not to pick up a wicket, but Will Haggerty did get his first wicket of the season, ending with figures of 1 for 22 off his 4 overs.

In reply Beaminster's openers Legg (31) and Nick Boundy (32) shared an opening partnership of 56. Once Boundy was cleaned up, there was a steady loss of wickets and the hosts collapsed to 117 all out.

Shaun Annetts batted well for his 15, with both Liam Annetts and Ben Ward playing some confident strokes before losing their wickets.

Beaminster consider Poole will be one of the stronger teams in the league and can take confidence from the six points gained from this match.

Next week the team are away to Kingston Lacy where they hope to continue building on their early season performances and look to pick up a first win of the season.

Division Five
Broadstone 4th v Weymouth 3rd No result – rain.

Division Six
Christchurch 2nd 146-5 beat Abbotsbury 143 all out by 5 wickets
ABBOTSBURY'S early-season struggle continued with a five wicket loss after their long trip to Christchurch. With only seven players due to injuries and unavailability leaving them without a full team, they did extremely well.

Batting first, the villagers soon lost Nick Kneebone, but thanks mainly to a solid 60 from Simon Pengelly, stubbornly supported by Robin Potter (18) in a stand of 77 for the fourth wicket, they managed three batting points in a total of 143 all out.

With only seven players on the field, it was always going to be hard after tea and Christchurch moved steadily towards their target, Langdon top scoring with 28. Abbotsbury's gamble of opening the bowling with spinner Pengelly was not a notable success, but the ever-reliable Grafton Straker took three wickets in his twelve-over spell and there was also a wicket each for Gary Pittman and Ryan Beesley, his first for the club.

This was a gutsy, backs-to-the-wall performance by those present, but playing short numbers is not going to win games. If anyone would like a game and can help out, they should ring the club secretary, Mick Lydford (01305 773692).

Bridport 2nd 108 all out lost to Blandford 3rd 109-7 by 3 wickets
A HALF-CENTURY and economical spell from veteran Rodney Gay could not prevent Bridport 2nds going down to a three wicket loss to Blandford 3rds.

Batting first Bridport's top order collapsed with only Nigel Toohill (12) getting into double figures, and the hosts were 45-6 when when Gay arrived at the crease.

However with superb support from Tom Higham who kept Gay on strike by grabbing singles at the end of the over, they carried the score past three figures before Gay departed with a fine 54 which included a number of fours.

Gay did his best with the ball as well and his economical spell of 2-20 from 10 overs restricted Blandford's reply. With fellow opening bowler Ed Halson and Dan White both claiming two wickets Bridport appeared to be in with a chance with Blandford on 65-6.

However a dogged innings from youngster Savage saw the visitors home.

Division Four
Symene 252-4 beat Lychett Minster 229-7 by 23 runs
SYMENE made it two wins in two with a good display to beat Lychett Minster.

Batting first they lost Colin Willcox cheaply and fellow opener Liam Toohill was dropped when on one. Lychett regretted that as he went on to stroke a masterful 74, before Mark Tozer with a superb 77 not out and Marcel Grunschloss with a swashbuckling 63, added over 120 runs in just 13 overs to take the target beyond 250.

Lychett were not daunted and were 155-1 in reply before Sam Challis and Willcox returned for their second spells. Challis removed both dangermen, Dennett four short of his century and Evans for 58 as the two took five wickets in five overs to quell Minster's fire, who then batted out the overs to get additional batting points.

On a day when almost 400 runs were scored, Willcox's 2-26 off 12 overs was a tremendous performance ably abetted by Challis' 3-50 off 12.

READERS MID-WESSEX LEAGUE
Division One
Middlezoy 195-7 beat Broadwindsor 120 all by 75 runs
NINE dropped catches, several of them easy, spelt disaster for Broadwindsor at Middlezoy.

For the second week running a poor performance in the field meant Broadwindsor had a far harder target than they should have, with only Ross Baker (2-40) the best of a frustrated bunch of bowlers.

Steve Phillips (22) and Dan Hillier (24) gave the Dorset side hope with a half century third wicket stand, but nobody else contributed much and they fell well short of the requirement.

New management structure nears completion at St Marys

BRIDPORT manager Trevor Senior has confirmed that the new management structure for next season should be resolved by this weekend.

Senior has already confirmed that Reserve team manager Mike Savage will be stepping up to help him with first team duties when the season starts and that the successful third team management duo of Steve Crabb and Mark Lock will take over the running of the reserves.

The only doubt was finding a suitable replacement for them to run the thirds, but Senior confirmed yesterday that current captain Jason Forbes will take over as manager. It is not known whether Forbes will continue playing, it is believed that he would like to concentrate on managing the side. It is expected that Forbes will be assisted by at least one if not two other unnamed personnel.

BY STUART BROOM

Senior also confirmed that he is hoping to appoint a coach to concentrate on all three team's fitness. Discussions have taken place and it is hoped a decision will be confirmed at the weekend.

The players will report for pre-season training on July 1st where Senior will have hoped to have added some new players to his squad. All last season's players have confirmed that they will resign including Sam Charles, although it is thought that he will attend pre-season training at Dorchester Town in a bid to regain his place in the Magpies pecking order.

Senior is hopeful that Charles will at least stay on loan with the Bees and that he can work with Magpies manager Ashley Vickers to take other fringe players on similar deals.

Vickers indicated this week that he will be looking to send one or two of his squad on loan deals to give them match fitness whilst supporting local clubs.
